6 Months' More Price Rises Seen

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (INS)—The cost of living, already at an all-time high level, probably will continue to go up for at least five or six more months. Despite present high living costs, government economists predicted today consumers will be paying even more for virtualy all essential items by next spring.

Bureau of Labor Statisticians and Agriculture Dept. officials warned no break in the inflationary price trend is in sight, although they are hopeful living costs may start downward in 1948.

MAJOR ITEMS UP

The economists believe rising food prices will spearhead a continued upward trend in the cost of living. They forecast higher bread, meat, butter, egg, milk and poultry prices in the coming months.

A BLS official also predicted some slight increases in the prices of clothing and building materials, the other major items in the cost of living.

One Agricultural Dept. economist attributed the soaring food prices to the high income level coupled with a tremendous demand in the face of prospects for a small corn crop.

WHAT TO EXPECT

Here's the price situation as viewed by the government economists:

Bread—a one-cent a pound increase appears likely.

Meat—The short corn crop, basic livestock feed, means less meat at higher prices next spring and summer.

Milk—Seasonal price increases are expected.

Poultry—A shortage of feed supplies will cause chicken and turkey prices to rise about February.

Clothing—Prices now are 34 per cent above 1926, but far below the all-time high of 1920. It looks as if there will be further increases.

In the Faneuil market district today meats reached record peaks of $1 and more the pound. Top round hit $1.20 a pound and rump steak ranged from $1 to $1.35 a pound. Sirloin was $1.25 a pound while bottom round reached $1 the pound. Even stew beef was sellong at 55c. and 65c. a pound. Hamburg, made up mostly of leavings from other cuts, remained the same, around 49c. a pound.

There was no better-grade hamburg displayed at any of the stalls, dealers explaining that meat came too high at wholesale prices to be ground up.

Wholesale prices on the market this morning stunned old-time dealers who say they topped all meat price highs after World War I.

Dealers reported they were

Atlantic Hurricane Dangerous, Navy Defers Plan to Bust It

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 12 (AP)—Storm warnings were hoisted in distant islands of the lesser antilles today as a full-fledged Atlantic hurricane with winds reported at 143 miles an hour sped west-northwestward at a forward speed of 20 miles an hour. The storm is classified as very dangerous.

The Navy had planned an attempt to "bust" the hurricane with a barrage of dry ice and other chemicals from a plane but decided to refer action.

The storm's center is expected to pass to the north of Barbuda and the northern Virgin Islands tonight and tomorrow as it bores a path in the general direction of Puerto Rico, the goal of the battleship Missouri, which is bringing President Truman home from Rio de Janeiro.

The Missouri is still many miles away, too far to feel any effects of the storm except perhaps the long rolling swells such disturbances make felt in distant sea areas.

An Army plane which probed the storm located the center at 9:45 a. m. today some 300 miles east of Puerto Rico. This would put it about 1500 miles from Florida.

Barometric pressure at the center had droppea to 28.85 inches. Very heavy rain and severe turbulence were reported.

At Miami, some of the more cautious boat owners were moving their vessels to protected shelters in the upper reaches of the Miami river.

The weather bureau said winds in the upper islands of the Lesser Antilles probaoly would not exceed 50 miles an hour as the storm brushes past, but all interests in the path of the great hurricane were advised to exercise extreme caution.

When conditions are right, the weather-science plane loaded with chemicals will seek out an upper section of the storm where super-cooled air prevails. It will fly at least 500 feet above the lower level of the super-cooled area and drop pea-sized pellets of chemicals into the hurricane at the rate of about 24 ounces per mile.

Reds Burn Church, Seize 150 Priests

PEIPING, Sept. 12 (INS)—The Chinese government's Central News Agency reported without confirmation today Chinese Communists have sacked and burned the lonely Trappist monastery at Yangchiaping, 70 miles northwest of Peiping.

The agency also asserted some 150 foreign and Chinese priests, monks and other persons were kidnaped by the Reds.

In a dispatch datelined Kalgan, Inner Mongolia, the government-controlled Chinese News Service said the Communists first plundered and then set fire to the 80-year-old church buildings.

It is being used on 100 cancer patients in Boston, who are considered hopeless.

Rabbi In 6th Day Of Hunger Strike

PARIS, Sept. 12 (INS)—Rabbi Baruch Korff of New York, jailed by the French in their investigation of the alleged Jewish underground plot to bomb London, was in a weakened condition today on the sixth day of his hunger strike.

Korff's attorney, George Monteux, aided by rabbinical authorities, is trying to get him to break his fast.

Cambridge Judge Rates Kicking Cop at $10

"A man should be willing to pay $10 for the privilege of kicking a cop," Judge Arthur P. Stone commented today in East Cambridge court after imposing a fine of that amount on Joseph Driscoll, 26, of Mason rd., Somerville.

Driscoll pleaded guilty to drunkenness and assault and battery on Cambridge patrolman Richard Nixon. Nixon testified the defendant had kicked him on the shins while standing before the booking desk at police headquarters.

Retail Food Still at Peak, Wholesale Prices Eased

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—Retail food prices either advanced or held to their high levels today, but hope of relief was seen in easing wholesale prices for some commodities.

Eggs hit $1 a dozen in some Philadelphia and New York stores. Choice steaks continued to sell at $1 a pound or better. Butter commanded $1.05 in some stores in both cities, and chain store butter advanced to 92 cents.

But prices of most grades of butter dropped a cent a pound on the New York wholesale market.

Food Futures Tumble In Chicago Selling

CHICAGO, Sept. 12 (AP)—Commodities for future delivery tumbled here today under a series of selling waves.

Butter, eggs, soybeans and lard had losses which extended to the limit change permitted in one day's trading. Wheat and oats were sharply lower. Corn ended mostly lower.

Brokers said most of the heavy selling appeared to be in response to growing public and official agitation regarding high food prices. They added that markets normally could be expected to decline after sharp advances such as those of this week.

Butter dropped 3 cents and eggs 2 cents, the daily limit in both cases, on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange. October storage eggs closed at 56 cents a dozen and November butter at 75 cents a pound.

At one time wheat was down as much as 10 cents and corn 8 cents a bushel, the daily limits. But a rally developed ao cancel part of the loss. Wheat ended 4 to 9¼ cents lower than yesterday's close, September $2.70, and corn 5¾ lowtr ao 1 cent higher, September $2.57-$2.57¾.

Lard was very weak and closed $1.15 to $2.00 a hundred pounds lower, the latter being the daily limit. September finished at $20.00.

Soybeans for delivery in March closed down 8 cents, the daily limit, at $3.24 a bushel, but the November contract gained 2 cents to end at 3.23½.

Texas Co. Cuts Gas, Fuel Oil Prices in 9 States

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 (AP)—Texas Co. announced it has authorized, effective yesterday, a price cut for gasoline and fuel oil by local dealers in nine states "to meet the competitive prices" of Jersey Standard. Officials said the exact amount of the cut would vary according to locality.

States affected include New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, North and South Carolina, Arkansas and Louisiana, also the District of Columbia.

$1-a-Pound Swordfish Seen Through Winter

FALL RIVER, Sept. 12 (AP)—With catches by Southern Massachusetts and Rhode Island fishermen about half of normal, the retail price of swordfish ranged between 89 cents and $1.10 a pound today. Dealers predicted the high price would continue throughout the winter.

The Weather

New Haven Seeks More Fare Boosts

As commuter resentment spread at the proposal of the New Haven railroad for 40 per cent fare increases on its Old Colony road, the line petitioned the State Public Utilities department today for permission to boost fares on all its other lines in Massachusetts. The latest petition was filed as residents of South Shore and other communities were preparing protest meeting against the proposal for 40 per cent increases on that line.

The proposal asks for permission to increase fares for so-called "12-ride" books of tickets 25 per cent and to boost fares for single tickets 20 per cent within the State.

The increases sought were in line with the boosts allowed by the Interstate Commerce Commission for interstate railroad passenger traffic Sept. 5.

The line made no request regarding the so-called "30-day" commutation tickets, for which the ICC authorized a 15 per cent increase in interstate traffic.

Hearing on the latest petition probably will be held by the Public Utilities Commission at the same time it holds a public hearing Oct. 16 at the Gardner Auditorium on the proposal to hike Old Colony line fares by 40 per cent.

Organized action by commuters using the Old Colony line to protest against the fare increase already was under way.

Mayor Joseph E. Downey of Brockton, called a meeting for Monday night in his city to line up the protest action.

Brockton City Solicitor Henry Gill, named by Mayor Downey to head the protest committee, declared today that the entire community was opposed to the increase as were residents of other cities and towns served by the line.

BRAINTREE ACTS

Braintree residents also will hold a hearing, probably next Monday, according to William G. Brooks, president of the Chamber of Commerce and the Taxpayers' Ass'n.

"This section should not be penalized any more than any other," Brooks asserted. "The road claims a deficit. I question their bookkeeping."

Find Bodies Of Couple in Car Trunk

TORONTO, Sept. 12 (AP)—The bodies of a man and a woman identified by police as George Vigus, 39, and Iris Scott, 21, were found early today crammed into the luggage compartment of Vigus' automobile in High Park, in Toronto's West End.

Police are awaiting an autopsy to learn the manner of death, but commented:

"It looks like poisoning of some kind."

Miss Scott lived in a rooming house in Toronto. Vigus was a paper box factory foreman.

Vigus had been missing from his North Toronto home since Wednesday night. The bodies were discovered after police were summoned by an attendant in High Park, who said the car had been standing in the park all day Thursday.

Both were fully clothed.

Detective Sgt. Jock Borland told reporters he believed it would have been possible for the two to crawl into the compartment and snap the lid shut behind them.

"This might have caused suffocation," he said.

Star-Spangled Banner Written 133 Years Ago

A proclamation celebrating the 133d anniversary tomorrow of "The Star-Spangled Banner," written by Francis Scott Key while a prisoner on a British warship shelling Ft. McHenry, Baltimore, was issued today by Mayor Hynes.

Jail Unwed Mother for Abandonment

An 18-months-old boy, attired in a blue coverall suit, sat quietly in Charlestown District Court today and heard his unwed mother, Jean Kerr, 19, Edwards st., Medford, sentenced to an indefinite term at the Woman's Reformatory after she pleaded guilty to having abandoned him in a Charlestown dooway.

The story of the girl's desperation was told to Judge Thomas F. Fitzpatrick by Sgt. John V. Miller and Special Officer Leo Hearn who arrested her last Friday, the day after the child was found on the doorway of a Belmont st. house.

The officers testified the girl told them she had been ordered from her father's home in Medford six weeks ago. She took the child to the home of a sister in Charlestown, the officers said, but found she was not welcome there.

After spending a week with a second sister the Kerr girl finally took her child to the home of a woman friend, police said.

On Sept. 5, out of work, without money and with no means of supporting the child the mother decided to abandon her son, William. The youngster, his face smeared with lipstick, was found by Mrs. Rose Holmquist in the doorway of her home.

Police told the court the young mother had named the father of the child, but said she had never told him about it or made any complaint to authorities.

The child who has been held at the Chardon st. Home was ordered turned over to the State Dept. of Public Welfare as a state ward.

ILL MOTHER, CHILDREN FOUND ON BEACH—Sick, penniless and hungry, Mrs. Margaret Barrett, 28, formerly of Blanche st., Cambridge, her sons, William 3, and Joseph, 1½, were found sleeping at Magazine Beach by Cambridge police last night. They had been evicted. Joseph was taken to Haynes Memorial Hospital, Boston, suffering from chicken pox. Mrs. Barrett is under treatment at Cambridge City Hospital for chest congestion, and William is under observation at the same institution.

Leaps Out Window Of Brockton Court

BROCKTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—Yells for help startled the Brockton courthouse today as a 250-pound prisoner fought off three men at an open window from which he plunged 20 feet to a sidewalk.

Robert Nimes, 40, arrested on a charge of disturbance at the Brockton fair, suffered spinal injuries in his drop from the second floor and his name is on the danger list at Brockton Hospital.

Patrolman Arthur Galvin said he was standing guard in a room near the court as Nimes was being questioned by Dr. Abraham Rifkin when suddenly Nimes bolted for the window.

Galvin said he and the doctor were joined by a newspaper reporter in trying to hold back the big man but that he wrenched himself free before others could reach them.

Police said Nimes told them he had no home when he was arrested after a series of arguments over being admitted to fair sideshows last night.

INSECT MONSTER

NANKING, Sept. 12 (AP)—China's perennial freak—the famous human-headed spider—has popped up again.

The Central News Agency's Tsinan correspondent, Ho Ping-Ju, messaged that another spider "with a small body but a head complete with eyebrows, eyes, mouth and nose" was captured outside the city walls.

The correspondent said the creature was being kept in his house for examination by insect experts.

Cleric Has Cancer, Asks Successor

BRIDGEPORT, Ct., Sept. 12 (INS)—Rev. Alexander Allison, Jr., pastor of the First Presbyterian Church here for 30 years, asked his congregation today to find a successor.

In a letter, Dr. Allison, who is 73, explained he had an incurable cancer, but would continue his work as long as his health allowed. He said:

"I am ready to go. My house is in order. I have had a long and blessed ministry.

"It is, of course, always a hardship to say farewell to such loved ones as I have, but it is better farther on.

"I have preached that glad hope and I know my Saviour will not fail me."

Hotel Snatch Thief Gets Box, $250

The youth was seen leaving with a green metal box which Irma Young, the cashier, had set there for a mement and which contained $250.

Gen. Lee Plans Work for Church

ROME, Sept. 12 (AP)—The hopes of Lt. Gen. John C. H. Lee to enter the service of the Episcopal Church in the United States became known today.

Lee plans to retire as U. S. Army commander in the Mediterranean Theater after the formal deposit next Monday of the Allies' ratifications of the peace treaty with Italy. His command has been under investigation recently but Lee said his retirement orders were issued before publication of the charges.

A Rome dispatch said he planned to offer his services to the Rt. Rev. Henry Knox Sherrill, presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States.

Mauled Charlestown Looper Gets 2 Years

His bruised and swollen face offering evidence that Charlestown no longer tolerates "looping," Kenneth J. Tibbetts, 20, of Walford way, Charlestown, today pleaded guilty when arraigned in district court charged with unlawful use of an auto and driving so as to endanger.

Judge Thomas F. Fitzpatrick sentenced the youth to two years in jail after police testified small children had lined the sidewalks of Bunker Hill st. as the car roared at 80 to 85 miles an hour over the "loop."

The car, owned by the National Maritime Union, was cornered when it slowed down to avoid a group of pedestrians. As the car came to a stop angry residents of the district closed in on Tibbetts and punched and mauled him before he was rescued by police and locked up.

Laxity of Sheriff On Loew Service Scored by Court

Sheriff Frederick R. Sullivan's office was criticized today from the Superior Court bench by Judge Frank J. Donahue as being lax and dilatory in serving notices on defendants, specifically on E. M. Loew, film magnate backer of the new Foxboro race track.

Atty. Edmund O'Callahan, whose client, Joseph W. Doherty, of Brookline, is suing Loew in connection with race track stock he allegedly was promised as a go-between, told the court:

"It was very difficult to serve Mr. Loew. According to the sheriff's office he is almost 'process proof.' I had to go to the race track with a deputy sheriff and point him out in order to get him here today under a subpoena to produce books."

Loew's counsel, Charles M. Goldman, objected with "Mr. Loew has been available for service every day."

Judge Donahue interposed:

"I know. My experience with the sheriff's office makes me believe the fault lies in that office. They even take subpoenas away with them when they go on vacation."

The judge ordered the case set for trial Sept. 29. He declined to extend a restraining order directing Loew to set aside $25,000 to meet a possible verdict against him. The suit also names Paul Bowser, the promoter and the track corporation, the Bay State Harness Horse Racing and Breeding Ass'n, Inc.

Judge Donahue's criticism of the sheriff's office was the second to come from the bench this year. Judge Robert G. Wilson, Jr., of probate court earlier objected to service in the sheriff's office of a divorce case defendant, pointing out that the circumstance of a divorce defendant happily relieving the sheriff of looking for him indicated a suspicious willingness to be divorced.

Autoists Warned On School Buses

State Police Capt. William V. Shimkus ordered troopers throughout the state today to enforce the law passed by the last Legislature which regulates operation of motor vehicles approaching and passing school buses.

The new law requires motorists to come to a full stop when they approach a school bus halted to take on or discharge passengers on either side of the highway or street. Drivers then must pass the standing bus no faster than 10 miles an hour.

Only exception to the law is when drivers approach buses from the opposite direction on the other side of a divided highway.

Capt. Shimkus warned all violators would be reported to the Registry of Motor Vehicles.

Vets Cash Bonds For 641 Million

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—Veterans converted more than a third of their terminal leave bonds into money in the first seven days after cashing began Sept. 2, the treasury reported today.

They received $641,797,257.65, including $25,322,407.65 interest. When cashing began, some 8,900,000 veterans held $1,838,000,000 in bonds.

If the bonds cashed conformed to the average size of around $200, the figures mean about 3,000,000 veterans—or one-third of the bondholders—took quick steps to swap their bonds for money instead of holding on for the 2½ per cent interest.

The figures were still below estimates that nearly three out of four veterans would turn in their bonds in the early days of cashing.

GERMAN MAYOR VANISHES

Those Argentine Quins

◆◆◆ ◆◆◆ ◆◆◆ ◆◆◆

4-Year Olds Full o' Pep

By DOROTHY DAWN

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (INS)—Armando Baliotta, stepbrother of the Argentine quintuplets, revealed today that the quins are lined up at present in five little beds recovering from five sets of measles.

But the lull won't last long, he said wryly. The quins are making a rapid recovery and the Franco Diligente household in Buenos Aires is being fortified against the pent-up energy of the 4-year-olds.

Ballotta, tall, good-lookng 18-year-old son of Mrs. Diligenti by a former marriage, is in New York en route to Oberlin College in Ohio to enroll as a freshman.

Fishing out a picture of the quins, Ballotta recounted some of the escapades that have rocked the 15-room Diligenti menage.

He smiled as he pointed out Maria Fernanda, Maria Christina, Maria Esther, Carios Alberto and Franco, Jr., in a neat little family circle, a glint in their eyes.

"They look like five little angels in the picture," Ballotta laughed, "but let me tell you about our recent vacation trip outside B. A."

He sighed and said:

"Their nurse herded them into the family car. Father was going to take them for a ride. The nurse went back to the hotel. When father came out, this is what he saw:

"The quins had scrambled over into the front seat. They'd found the key to the ignition, stepped on the starter, and when father came out he saw the car moving slowly away down the road."

The quins—all five in the front seat—were howling with glee.

Once they filled the bathtub with water, and with something resembling a five-man assembly line, tossed everything loose in the room in the tub.

"Healthy?" the brother repeats incredulously. "Yes," he answers limply, "they're quite healthy and normal."

People in the Belgrano residential district have become used to the quins and don't climb over the walled garden as they once did to see them.

The only public appearance the five little Diligentis make is when their mother and father, a textile manufacturer, march them into a pew for mass occasionally on Sunday.

The Diligentis haven't decided about their schooling but think they may go to American schools in Buenos Aires, as the two older girls do now.

Beauties Hunted in Gaming Plot

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (INS)—A number of beautiful women, whose sleek photographs graced a raided gambling setup at Park ave.'s Hotel Marguery, were the object of a police hunt today as possible lures for the syndicate whose suckers had to have a $10,000 bankroll to get in.

Police said the technique of the women—some of whose names are known—was to loiter around fashionable hotels and nightclubs as "sucker bait."

Six men, arrested when police prematurely raided the elaborate gambling suit, were charged with vagrancy, police said that not a single "sucker" showed up during the three weeks the gang operated in their suite although they were set to make a killing during the recent American Legion convention.

Police said the gang planned to recoup their losses on the free-spending visitors to the World Series and then flee to Havana aboard ship where "minor operations" were on the agenda.

Paul A. King, 50, Atlanta, Ga., alias The Professor, the gang's reputed brains, and Theodore Clarke, 52, Miami, Fla., the alleged technical genius who supervised the installation of wires, fake mirrors, signaling devices and other gadgets, were scheduled to appear in the police line-up today.

Police, who based their evidence on tapped telephone wires, said the gang on at least one occasion in the past had clipped a "sucker" for $25,000.

Prefabricated Home Drive Urged

Prefabricated homes are the "next step toward a brighter housing future," L. Douglas Meredith, vice-president of the National Life Insurance Co., of Montpelier, Vt., told the Massachusetts Savings Bank Ass'n convention at the New Ocean House in Swampscott today.

Driver Returns Wallet, $200 Found in Cab

George Michaelman of Fowler st., Dorchester, Boston cab driver, reported to police today he had discovered a wallet containing $200 in cash stuffed in the back seat of his cab.

He told police of taking a fare from South Station to the New Ocean House in Swampscott and a check disclosed the wallet belonged to Walter St. John of Des Moines, Ia., now at the hotel. Michaelman took off immediately to return the wallet personally.

It's Time for Johnny Hopp To Spank a Single--at Home

When they hand out bigger imaginations, 4-year-old Terril Hopp, daughter of the Braves outfielder, Johnny Hopp, will be standing in the front row asking for one.

Today Mistress Hopp was "playing house" with her small fry intimates of the Pilgrim rd., Watertown, set. Things were going too smoothly, so she said:

"Let's make believe the house is on fire."

This was regarded as an inspiration. Mistress Hopp mounted her tricycle. Her girl friends, whooping with joy over the thrilling realism of it, climbed aboard scooters and 'cycles of one kind or another and pell-melled it after her to the nearest fire box.

By remaining on her tricycle and standing on the pedals, the child of the Hopps managed to pull the fire alarm signal.

Then all and sundry stood rooted in delicious anticipation. When the apparatus had huffed to a halt and the sirens had died away, Fire Chief William McElroy alighted and asked the little girls to tell where the fire was.

"Our house is on fire," said Mistress Hopp. "Where is it?" the chief demanded hurriedly. She dangled one toe behind her, twisted a pretty handkerchief into a knot and explained:

"I mean we were just playing house so we made believe it was on fire."

Benenson Fashions Skip Too-Long Daytime Skirts

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE, Boston American Fashion Editor

NEW YORK, Sept. 12—There's nothing in the Fira Benenson collection to cause a terrific uproar of rebellion or national protest. There's no extreme hourglass silhouette, no offensively long, long-skirted dress for daytime, no freakish interpretation of a designer's new freedom with fabric.

But then you wouldn't expect to find an unrestrained hand in any clothes designed by this Bonwit Teller custom couturier for her collection directed to fastidious women who take their fashion in doses of well-handled, exquisitely-detailed simplicity. It is fashion evolution, not revolution in this collection.

BEST EVER HELD

Hailed as the best Benenson showing ever held, the clothes are firm, fine, and feminine. Skirt lengths are still approximately 12 or 13 inches from the floor, what they were at her last showing.

Men, who have a feeling for fine clothes, will definitely approve of the Benenson dresses, both for daytime, cocktail hour and evening. This designer creates a silhouette which gives to a woman a new, natural form of grace, whether walking or in repose. She achieves this by using lines that follow the normal contours of the body . . . A body which artists have long since set as a standard. Vanishing hips, full curved bosoms, hollowed diaphrams, small compact waists. Isn't that the way any self-conscious, proud and beautiful woman wants to look?

OFFERS NEW COLORS

Miss Benenson favors black for daytime wear, but in her evening group she offers a range of wonderful new tones such as pearl gray, absent for a long time; sulphur yellow, dark sapphire blue, Florentine reds and greens, rust, mole gray and black in both jersey and velvet.

Wool jersey evening dresses vie for sartorial honors with wool jersey for daytime. It is a fashion innovation for the after-dark hours, but a strikingly stunning one.

Miss Benenson makes much of the profile look in her clothes, accenting this stance with as much importance as the coming and going front and back of a dress. And while fabric is lavishly used, this designer manages to accentuate rather than conceal body contours.

For the most part, the Benenson silhouette is really slim. Yet there is fullness to the skirt, in-

2 Charlestown Girl Pals Missing 3 Days

Two Charlestown girl chums, both missing from their homes since Tuesday, were widely sought by police today in the belief they had run away together.

Carol Ann O'Leary, 14, of Polk st., a second-year student at Charlestown high school, was last seen Tuesday noon, according to her mother, Mrs. Alice O'Leary.

Her chum, Frances L. Leeman, 14, of Bunker Hill st., a pupil at the General Edwards school, dropped from sight at the same time.

Mrs. O'Leary recalled she had scolded her daughter recently for staying out late and last Monday had told her she must be in no later than 9 each evening.

She disappeared the next day after telling her mother she was going to see if there was any mail in the letter-box.

Neither girl took extra clothing, according to their families.

Truck Runs Wild, Driver Hurt in Fire

Racing out of control as it sped down the Route 138 turnpike incline in the Ponkapoag section of Canton, a 12-ton trailer truck crashed through a highway guard rail uprooted a huge elm tree and burst into flames today, critically burning the driver who was trapped in his cab.

Kenneth W. Perry, 26, of Blackburn st., New Bedford, managed to extricate himself from the fuel-sprayed wreckage, his clothing aflame from the waist up. He put out the blaze in his clothes by rolling in the dirt.

Hynes Order Takes Essex St. Parking Site

Mayor Hynes today rejected a protest from nine leather goods district firms and signed an order taking by eminent domain a site bound by Essex, Lincoln and Columbia sts., which will be used for a cage-garage in the off-street parking program.

Irving Lewis, chairman of the board of real estate commissioners, said the board will go into court Monday to expedite the move.

The objectors asked the mayor to build the cage-garage at a nearby parking lot so they would not have to vacate their premises.

Woman's Body Found in Charles

The body of an unidentified woman about 40 was found floating today in Charles river basin near the Dartmouth st. landing.

Metropolitan police recovered the body. It was removed to Northern Mortuary to await autopsy by Medical Examiner Brickley.

BUMPER N. E. APPLE CROP

New England starts Monday to pick a bumper apple crop of 6,913,000 bushels, the New England Crop Reporting Service said today.

Iran Arms Border In Soviet Oil Crisis

LONDON, Sept. 12 (INS)—Russia put new pressure on Iran for oil concessions today as Tehran dispatches reported three battalions of Iranian mechanized troops were sent to the northern border where Soviet war games are in progress.

The Moscow radio, following the pledge of support to Iran by U. S. Ambassador George Allen, accused Iran of violating the Soviet-Iranian oil agreement.

Travellers returning to Tehran from the north are bringing reports of extensive military activity on the Soviet side of the border.

They reported that the roar of tanks and the rattle of machine gun fire in military exercises have been heard constantly since the Soviet newspaper Pravda declared that Iranian repudiation of the Soviet-Iran oil agreement would be dangerous.

It is understood Premier Ahmed Ghavam has decided to change the terms of the original Soviet-Iranian oil agreement.

Reliable informants said Russia already has been informed of this decision.

Loew Gives Youth in Theft Theater Job

David C. Amaral, 24, of the South End, who was given another chance after he voluntarily confessed breaking into the auto of Mrs. Sonya Loew, wife of the theater magnate, now is employed by E. M. Loew at one of his Boston theaters, it was learned today.

At the time Amaral appeared in court with Mrs. Loew, who came to his defense, he was given six months' probation and she announced that she had obtained employment for him at the Foxboro harness racing track in which her husband has an interest.

But today, Loew told newsmen at Suffolk Courthouse, where he was appearing regarding litigation involving the track, that Amaral was no longer working there.

"He didn't like it at the track," Loew explained.

He said he had found a place for the youth to work in one of his Boston theaters temporarily. Next week, he said, Amaral would be given an audition with a view to placing him in some sort of theatrical entertainment.

Amaral was employed as a cafe master of ceremonies at the time he became involved in his trouble.

Outbreak of Polio Closes Schools in R. I. Town

SCITUATE, R. I., Sept. 12 (INS)—Superintendent of Schools Colson announced today all Scituate schools were being closed indefinitely because of a case of infantile paralysis. A five-year-old child was stricken with the disease. The closing affects approximately 425 pupils.

Since the first of the year more than 90 cases of polio were reported in Rhode Island. Providence schools delayed opening until Sept. 29 as a precautionary measure.

Speed on Flood Controls Urged

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Sept. 12 (AP)—A U. S. Army engineers spokesman today called for the co-operation of New England governors in speeding flood control projects in the Connecticut and Merrimack valleys.

Brig. Gen. Raymond G. Moses of the New England Division of the U. S. engineers, told the 88th quarterly meeting of the New England council a number of dams must be constructed "before these valleys may have reasonable protection from floods."

He said New England flood control projects authorized in the flood control act of 1936 "include those in the Connecticut river basin, in which four states are interested, and in the Merrimack river basin, in which two states are interested."

Woman, Child Felled by Trucks

A 60-year-old South End woman and a three-year-old South Boston girl were injured today when struck down by trucks Both were taken to City Hospital.

Mrs. Hannah Stone, 60, of Montgomery st., South End, was struck at Harrison ave., and Bristol st., South End. She was said to have a fracture of the right leg, right wrist and the pelvis. Her name was on the danger list.

In South Boston, Lea Mulligan, 3, of Logan Way, was knocked down on Vine way by a truck operated, according to police by George F. Fitzgerald of McDonough way, South Boston. She suffered a fracture of the right shoulder.

Harry Hopkins' Widow Bride of Architect

ARDMORE, Pa., Sept. 12 (INS)—Mrs. Louise Gil Macy Hopkins, widow of Harry L. Hopkins, was married today to Geoffrey Gates, socially prominent architect, in the home of her sister, Mrs. Nicholas Ludington.

The ceremony took place shortly after noon. Attending were Mrs. Hopkins' sister, Miss Gertrude Macy of New York; Hopkins' daughter Diana by a former marriage; Gates' twin brother, John, and his son, Geoffrey, Jr.

Model's $5000 Auto Damage Suit Now in Hands of Jury

MRS. MURIEL F. KANDAR OF QUINCY

A Suffolk Superior Court jury began deliberations today on an auto injury case in which a professional model, an attractive mother of two children, and her two sisters, seek $5000.

The model, Mrs. Murial F. Kandar, 25, of Edinboro rd., Quincy, and her sisters, Ruth, and Marilyn Farrar, of Eliot pl., Jamaica Plain, are named defendants in a cross action by occupants of the other car, Miss Marie Jermak, 40, of Jersey City, N. J., and her brother, Peter. The Jermaks seek $10,000 for injuries and auto damage. The accident occurred in Brighton cir., Oct. 21, 1945.

geniously achieved via a deep flap-fold of material caught at the back of the waistline to facilitate walking and induce graceful strides. Although the look is slim it definitely is not the "plastered down" look. There is sleekness but not of the body-hugging kind. Rather it is body coverage of insinuating manner.

DEFINITE OUTLINES

There is hipline extension but not to any exaggerated point, only insofar as it is necessary to create an illusion of a seemingly smaller waistline.

There is widespread use of woolens in the collection such as velours de laine, broadcloth and jersey. That's because this designer likes definite outlines and such fabrics with body lend themselves to definitive fashion interpretation. Velvet cocktail suits and dinner dresses are a bit of the collection.

One such has a skirt of black velvet with the jacket and bodice of the dress entirely embroidered on organza. Tiny lace shirrings worked into intricate designs and outlined with jet, paillettes and velvet make for glamor.

Her short, shore "hour!" jackets, enfolding the shoulders and reminiscent of old-fashioned "hug-me-tights," are highlights of the collection. Often carried out in the same fabric as the dress, just as often they are of a contrasting color for a most startling color combination.

DECORATIVE BORDERS

Decorative and embroidered borders on evening dresses, appliques of shirred flowers of self-fabric on the bouffant skirt of formal gowns are a few of Fira Benenson's famed dressmaker devices in making a dress stand out as a one-of-a-kind original for a one-of-a-kind glorious woman.

For the first time, Miss Benenson's collection is restricted to day dresses and evening gowns, and the concentration on these is artistically superb.

Actualy, this collection must be seen to be appreciated. Words, feeble at best, are decidedly inadequate to describe the picturesque beauty of a designer's artistry in serving up creative clothes for fashion-appreciative women.

COMING TO BOSTON

Boston women will have a chance to see this entire collection as I saw it today for it will be presented to the Boston public in October, a few weeks after the Boston Bonwit Teller store opening.

Then you will see the Benenson signature of shirring, tuckings and handwork on wearable crepe and satin dresses, her classic jerseys of brown, red and navy, dresses with pocket detail, good buttons, contour belts, forward moving silhouettes that are as much a tribute to a beautiful woman as a beautiful woman is to the clothes she wears.

Then you'll understand that all this hullaballoo about fantastic, freakish clothes for the fall season is only a tempest in a teapot and that wearable clothes acceptable to any American woman may be had . . . for a price, of course.

A navy blue jersey day dress with material carefully overlapped at the hips and bosom in artichoke effect is an understated classic. Another, a red jersey day dress, features a diaphragm diminished-pocket effect over the hips and long-curved waistline at the back, accentuating the "new posture."

A black wool dress and jacket, with accented hipline, is very whimsical with its trimming of gold and silver galloons, colorful ball fringe attached to a colored band, decidedly Spanish in look and feeling. The simple-lined dress has similar galloon-treatment at the shoulderline.

Black, beige and brown satin for daytime is another feature fabric adaptation. The lines, again, are classically simple with the skirt fullness stemming from the dressmaker fabric fold.

Smocking, reviving with nostalgia the old days, is used on the bodice front around a V-neckline and again over the hips of a black satin dress.

Rent Controls Vital, Warn 4 Key Senators

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)——Four Senators who often differ on legislative matters agreed today that Congress is likely to vote an extension of rent controls beyond next Feb. 29.

Senators McCarthy, (R.) of Wisconsin, Flanders, (R.) of Vermont, Sparkman, (D.) of Alabama and Myers, (D.) of Pennsylvania voiced their predictions in separate interviews.

Sparkman commented that he has opposed proposals to extend and resume wartime controls "except as a last resort" but added:

"It looks as though we are about at the last resort now."

Myers already has introduced legislation calling for a return to many of the tighter rent control provisions dropped when Congress passed the present law.

Myers proposes to return authority over all evictions to federal rent officials, apply ceilings to new construction, allow collection of treble damages for overcharges, limit trial of rent cases to a special emergency federal court of appeals, and allow recontrol in areas that have been decontrolled.

Cops Get Wrong Mullen, and How!

"Too many Mullens," muttered municipal court officers today, when, with reddened faces, they had to acknowledge to Judge Tomasello they had the wrong prisoner to be tried for larceny.

As the case of James Mullen was called, an irate man looked His Honor straight in the eye and declared:

"I'm not guilty, Your Honor, and I can prove it."

"Wait a minute," said the judge, "what's the charge against you?"

"Larceny of a doctor's bag, valued at $150,from Dr. Fred Bartlett of Beale st., Quincy," answered Patrolman James G. Wightman. Then scrutinizing the prisoner more closely:

"Aren't you James Mulen and don't you live on Springer ct., in South Boston?

"I am James Mullen," answered the prisoner, "but I live on Deer Island and I was there on a charge of non-support on the day of this crime."

Records revealed two James Mullens had been arrested from South Boston and that police now have to look for the one that got away.

Radio Advertising Called Too Costly

ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 12 (AP)—Neil H. McElroy of Cincinnati, general manager of Procter and Gamble Co., said today that increasing costs of radio advertising may force makers of mass-used products to change to other media.

"In a nutsnell, we are deeply concerned with the advancing cost of radio advertising," McElroy said in a speech prepared for a national broadcasting company meeting here.

Since 1933, McElroy said, the cost of radio advertising per listener increased, but "the cost of reaching the consumer through the other major media has remained relatively level or has declined."

Europe Must Help Itself, Say Bankers

LONDON, Sept. 12 (AP)—The World Bank and the World Monetary Fund declared today the main effort to reconstruct Europe's war-torn economies must be made by the European countries themselves.

But both of the 45-nation financial institutions agreed Europe also must have outside help—particularly from the U. S.—in the form of goods to spur production. They called production the "final solution of the problem."

Both institutions, in second annual reports to their boards of governors meeting here, also said they lack the resources and authority to give aid on the scale now required. That help must be obtained from "governments," the reports declared.

MORE FUNDS NEEDED

The fund, headed by Camille Gutt of Belgium, summed it up this way:

"It is apparent that if the goods needed for completion of reconstruction are to be made available, it will be necessary for governments to extend additional aid beyond what the (World) Bank can provide.

"The fund itself can give only limited financial help in the present situation. Moreover, its resources are not intended for reconstruction."

John J. McCloy, the New York lawyer and former assistant U. S. War Secretary who is president of the World Bank, said the major bottlenecks remaining in the reconstruction of Europe are "food, fuel and manpower." He commented:

"Europe itself must make the major contribution to the solution of all of these problems. . . . Outside assistance is vital, but it represents a small percentage of the total effort."

He suggested that financial reform might be achieved through the following steps:

1—Establishment of an international panel of skilled and impartial technicians to investigate and make recommendations. Such a panel might grow out of present deliberations regarding the Marshall Plan or discussions within the framework of the Economic Commission for Europe.

2—Integration of European reconstruction and production programs on a regional basis.

3—Gradual removal of lowering of the trade barriers which now hinder the free international flow of goods.

4—Prompt utilization of the productive facilities of Germany for the benefit of the overall European economy.

GOOD KEY COMMODITY

McCloy said:

"If European coal production could be increased to prewar levels, A large part of Europe's production problem would be on its way to solution, and an unnecessary drain upon its dollar resources would be removed."

Turning from European problems, McCloy continued:

"It should not be very long before the financing of development projects in those areas (Latin America, Asia, Africa and the Middle East) will tend to become the primary concern of the bank.

HAPPY THOUGHT

AMHERST, Sept. 12 (AP)—Inflation has reached even to the value of the chemical constituents in the human body.

Dr. John F. Conlin, director of medical information and education for the Massachusetts Medical Society, declared today a recent reappraisal of the cash value of the basic elements of the human body, "formerly worth a mere 98 cents" has risen.

"You are now worth $31.04," he told the Massachusetts Public Health Conference at the University of Massachusetts.

Auto Firm Sues Over Resale Ban

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Sept. 12 (AP)—A district court judge took under consideration today an automobile dealer's charge that a customer broke a contract by selling a new car immediately after signing an agreement prohibiting such action.

Counsel for the Frank Crook Co., Inc., of Pawtucket, contended that Frederick De Waele of that city had violated a contract containing a $200 penalty clause when he resold a newly purchased car at a $200 advance.

De Waele's attorney argued that terms of the agreement were unjust and unfair. He said the automobile dealer had made his profit from the sale and had suffered no damages. The court was informed that the contract barred resale for a year unless the car was first offered to the dealer at the purchase price.

Probe Fails to Reveal Steamer Blast Cause

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 12 (AP)—The cause of the explosion which destroyed the excursion steamer Island Queen with a probable loss of 20 lives remained a mystery following a Coast Guard inquiry here.

Witnesses could tell nothing except that there were explosions and that flames seemed to engulf the ship almost immediately.

Two bodies were recovered yesterday from the Monongahela river, increasing the toll of known dead to 14, with six crewmen still missing. There were no passengers aboard.

Hails Catholic Groups as Bar To Reds

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Sept. 12 (AP)—The Catholic charities program was called "one of the retaining walls against the interests of atheistic totalitarianism" today by Edward M. O'Connor, executive assistant of Catholic war relief service.

O'Connor, who also served as chairman of the council of relief agencies for the American, British and French occupation zones in Germany, spoke before the opening session of the Catholic Tri-State Congress here.

Some 1500 of the Catholic clergy and laity from Michigan, Indiana and Illinois are expected to attend the five-day session.

"We must not take it for granted that these trying times will pass without great effect and sacrifice," O'Connor declared. "In truth and fact, this struggle has reached our own shores, and in its insidious and devious way seeks to destroy our way of life."

He added that:

"When the state is charged with or assumes all responsibilities for the social well being of the people, very soon the state begins to decide what is best for its citizens, and very soon after that the people lose their proper voice in the affairs of government."

Other speakers at the Friday morning session were Frances W. Grose, professor of sociology at Notre Dame University, whose topic was "Preparing for Marriage," and Mrs. Harry Lombard of Detroit.

Edward Cardinal Mooney of Detroit will address the meeting tonight.

Pope Urges Women War On Atheism

ROME, Sept. 12 (INS)—Pope Pius XII called on Catholic women throughout the world to join the church's new battle against atheism and "totalitarian anti-Christian forces."

His appeal was made to 1500 representatives of the Women's Catholic Action organization from various parts of the world and followed a similar appeal to the Men's Catholic Organization Sunday.

"The battle may be difficult. It is a battle for the family's welfare and rights, women's dignity, for the child, for school."

He laid down the following three basic principles for action by women in the fight being waged by the church:

"Above all, a supernatural, proud, vigilant, intrepid faith is necessary.

"Intellectual and political forces more or less permeated with Atheism are preparing to disrupt Christian civilization."

His second point contained the exhortation to Catholic women not to confine themselves to pure spiritual dogma but "be present everywhere for Christ, for faith, wherever vital interests involving the church, family, school and the social order are affected."

His third point was a plea to women to refrain from compromises between Christian doctrine and theories not reconcilable with it.

On women's participation in politics he said:

"Undoubtedly women should not take up political careers en masse. It is best that they dedicate most of their time to home and the family."

Train Trip Costs Farmer $14,150

DETROIT, Sept. 12 (AP)—Joseph Raczkowski's railroad trip from Sweyersville, Pa., to Detroit cost him $14,150—his life savings—the 62-year-old former farmer told police here.

Raczkowski sought out officers upon arrival here to make his home after selling his farm near Wilkes-Barre, Pa. He said that during the train trip from Buffalo he met a friendly young man who bumped him as they left the coach.

Raczkowski quickly felt for his wallet, which contained cashier's checks totaling $13,450 and $700 in cash, he related. The wallet and the young acquaintance both were missing.

Hookup of Subway Cars Saves Man in Pit Tumble

Because of an unusual hook-up of cars in a rapid transit subway train, Patrick J. O'Hara, 22, of Brookfield rd., Winthrop, was alive today.

He fell into the pit at the Milk st. station and the first car of the four-car train passed over his body, inflicting cuts and bruises. Metro officials said this train had its motors under the rear car, but usually they are under the front car where they would have killed the youth.

90, SEEKS 3D WIFE

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 12 (AP)—Harry Burstein, 90, retired wine merchant, divorced his second wife and said he would like to marry again.

He testified that Gussie, 65, went home to her daughter after they had been married about 13 months. He added:

"I hardly knew her at all when she proposed to me, but I did the gallant thing and married her."

Burstein's first wife died in 1943 after a marriage of 62 years.

California law says he'll have to wait a year before he marries again.

O'Neil Maps Probe of Housing Cost

Nat'l Com. James F. O'Neil of the American Legion, in an interview after landing at Logan Airport for a 24-hour Boston visit, announced he will confer soon with Asst. U. S. Atty. Gen. John Sonnett to determine whether monopolistic practices are responsible for the high cost of housing.

He disclosed there already had been preliminary conferences.

The primary aim of the Legion's housing program, he said, will be to persuade industry, labor, middlemen, lawyers and others involved to co-operate in bringing construction costs down to a point which prospective buyers can meet.

O'Neil said:

"The problem is not chiefly that of a shortage of material. It's mostly a price problem. We want to see action at the community and state levels. We feel agreement can be reached to reduce building costs."

O'Neil said that in the near future he will seek an interview with President Truman, to lay before him the failure of the Veterans' Administration to build veterans' hospitals for which blueprints have been reported ready for months.

Commenting on critics of the Legion convention resolution to amend the Constitution to outlaw Communists, O'Neil said:

"They're getting excited about nothing. We want no witch-hunt or Red-baiting. We want to do this thing the American way, by education. The electorate, after all, would make the final decision. It's as much against Fascists as Communists."

Ashby Teacher May Take Old Job Soon

ASHBY, Sept. 11—Miss Dorothy T. Wilder, 48, the high school teacher believed lost on Mt. Washington and later located in northern Maine, may take back her old job soon.

She taught one year in the local school and sent a note of resignation to school heads last week just before her disappearance. She is due home soon in company of her parents, and the Ashby school board will hold a special meeting to consider reinstating her.

Sideshow Barker Identified As Kicking Out Boy's Eye

DETROIT, Sept. 12 (INS)—Roy B. Hix, 40, a sideshow barker, was ordered held for trial on charges of kicking out the eye of Richard Hinson, 10, at the Michigan State Fair. Detroit Judge John P. Scallen continued bond of $10,000 for Hix, of National City, Cal., after the examination.

William Ribbing, 34, identified Hix as the man who kicked Richard in the face as the boy knelt to peer beneath a freak show tent.

Christian Science Reveals Substance Infinite, Spiritual

Clayton Bion Craig, C.S.B., of Cincinnati, a member of the board of lectureship of The Mother Church, spoke on "Christian Science: Its Revelation of the Kingdom Within" at The Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in the Back Bay last night.

He described as the mission of Christ Jesus the revelation to those prepared to receive it of the kingdom of heaven, and the reign of universal harmony within one's own consciousness by setting one free from unchristian beliefs in human suffering.

He declared:

"We are still witnessing the ravages wrought by a world war resulting from false education—belief in a Godless world and the deification of matter as substance.

"Accompanying this material sense of substance are the beliefs that matter is limited and therefore is not sufficient to go around to meet the individual and collective human need.

"Christian Science reveals the nature of true substance, which is infinite, unlimited and wholly spiritual, and therefore incapable of discord and decay.

"A sense of lack, no matter what it may seem to be to human sense, is never a lack of material things, it is always a lack of understanding of God and of man as His complete expression."

Biddeford City Employe Group on Third Strike

BIDDEFORD, Me., Sept. 12 — For the third time in a month, 35 employes of the Street Dept. are on strike, as a demonstration of sympathy for two fellow-workers laid off Wednesday after resuming their jobs following last week's strike, and for a third worker reduced to a lower pay bracket.

Prestone Conklin and Honore Thibodeau said they were notified by Street Comr. Albert Cadorette that there was no more work for them for a time. Wilfred Perreault, receiving $8 a day as a skilled worker, said he had been informed his wage would be $5 a day in future.

Governor Calls for General Constitution Day Observance

Gov. Bradford yesterday issued a proclamation setting aside next Wednesday as Constitution Day and calling upon all Massachusetts citizens to join in the nationwide patriotic observance of the "160th anniversary of the signing of that great document."

The executive proclamation stated:

"Our nation has passed through many vicissitudes and crises during its lifetime, but grave though our trials have been, we have come through them all successfully, sustained by those tenets and ideals contained in our Constitution.

"Today we are in the midst of another serious crisis—one which threatens not only the well-being of our own country, but that of the entire world as well.

"We will, however, emerge from this period of trial with renewed physical and spiritual strength and greater confidence in our future by keeping faith in the Constitution and abiding by its humanitarian principles of freedom and justice for all."

Patriotic exercises will be held aboard the famed USS Constitution at the Charlestown Navy Yard under auspices of the First Naval District, with both Navy and Marine personnel participating.

Veterans' organization leaders will be heard over Station WBZI in a special radio program from 3:30 to 3:45 p. m. highlighting the signing of the Constitution.

Flying Tackle Nabs Chef Wife-Killer

NEWPORT, N. H., Sept. 12—Sought for 24 hours in connection with the Wednesday night slaying of his estranged wife, Myrtle, 48, Achille Correveau, 46, unemployed chef, was captured while trying to slip out of town along the railroad tracks and three hours later, according to officials, confessed the crime.

Police Chief Axel Lewko, who brought the fugitive down with a flying tackle after the river had been dragged for his body, said Correveau had been booked on a charge of murder and would be arraigned today before Judge Kenneth Nash in Municipal Court.

The slain wife, a housekeeper for a Georges Hills physician, was felled by one of several bullets from a .32-caliber revolver as she stood on the steps of the home of her daughter, Mrs. Vera Perry, 30.

It is believed that after writing a will leaving $9700 in cash to his two children by a former marriage, Correveau slashed a wrist slightly with a razor and walked to Sugar river, where the blood trail ended.

New Jet Bomber Ready for Tests

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—A new jet bomber, the XB-47, which may attain speeds even greater than present jet fighters was rolled out of its construction hangar at Boeing's Seattle plant today.

The XB-47 is powered with six General Electric jet engines—four mounted in pairs under the inboard sections of the wing and another mounted out near each wing tip. Two rocket motors near the tail will be used for emergency bursts of power.

Children's Hospital Sends 3 To Battle Polio in Germany

The Children's Hospital today named a crack medical team of three which will fly to Germany tomorrow to help fight an outbreak of infantile paralysis in the American zone.

It is headed by Dr. Thomas Gucker, pioneer in the fight against polio. A second member is Mrs. Elizabeth Zausmer, who fled the Nazis as they moved into Vienna in 1938 and since has been attached to the hospital's physiotheraphy department. The third member is Mrs. Anne Fallon, chief orthopedic nurse at the hospital.

Dr. William Greene, chief of the orthopedic department, said the team was being dispatched on an appeal from Gen. Lucius Clay, military governor, and that it would be charged with instructing American personnel in anti-polio technique.

Mrs. Zausmer is the wife of a refugee journalist, Otto Zausmer.

Salvation Army to Open Drive for $500,000

The Salvation Army, which spends $1,000,000 in Greater Boston annually, will launch a drive to raise $500,000 for annual maintenance of 30 institutions at a "kick off" dinner Wednesday night at the City Club.

Col. Richard F. Stretton, provincial commander, said half of the annual expenditures are raised through operations of the institutions and from miscellaneous sources, but the other half must come from public contributions.

Bikini Atoll Again Fit for Habitation

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Sept. 12 (AP)—Scientists who examined Bikini atoll a year after the atomic tests reported here that the atoll "now is completely safe for human habitation" but no natives have returned.

The members of the Bikini scientific resurvey, arriving on the Navy transport Chilton, also said in response to an interview question there was nothing to add to the already known destructive powers of the aerial and submarine bombs exploded July 1 and July 25, 1946.

Bikini atoll, said Capt. Christian L. Engleman, Navy resurvey project officer, "looks much like any other atoll today." About the only visible wreckage, he added, was a beached landing craft.

Neck Surgery New Means to Ease Palsy

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—People with shaking hands, and with limbs so weak they are nearly paralyzed from palsy, and those who cannot move arms and legs without jerks are getting some relief from a new neck operation described to the American College of Surgeons here today.

Strangely enough, this operation really affects not the neck but the brain. It was reported by Dr. Averill Stowell of the Cleveland Clinic.

All these conditions are caused by atrophy in some part of the brain. Surgery of the brain has been tried with some success to relieve palsy. But most of the conditions are incurable.

Dr. Stowell's neck operation severs a number of nerves whose job is to control the tension of arteries carrying blood to the brain. All this tension stops when the neck nerves are severed. The arteries enlarge, and the brain receives more blood.

The extra blood to gray matter gives relief. Dr. Stowell said the patients become happier, can move with less jerkiness, there is less loss of the sense of feeling and their minds become keener.

A plastic, waxy in color, thin as tissue paper, was reported by the Mayo Foundation, Rochester, Minn., as a new and improved lining for human brains. The natural brain lining is a tough membrane called the dura. It is often lost in part in accidents and surgical operations. For substitutes surgeons have used gold, silver, platinum, tantalum, membranes from body tissues and plastics made from human blood plasma.

The plastic, polythene film, doesn't stick to any part of the brain or bones, not even sulfuric or hydrochloric acids eat it, and it is so tough it stands a strain of 1400 pounds a square inch. The report was made by Drs. M. Hunter Brown, John H. Grindley and Winchell McK. Craig.

Jews to Observe New Year 5708

Rosh Hashonah, the Hebrew New Year marking advent of the year 5708, will be celebrated by New England Jewry beginning at sundown on Sunday. Orthodox Jews will celebrate for two days, and reformed Jews for one.

Jewish leaders issued greetings to the world's Jews and voiced hopes for a happier New Year.

The Synagog Council of America called upon American Jewry to support the United Jewish Appeal for $170,000,000 in order to aid the 1,500,000 Jews remaining in Europe.

AND IRONED, TOO?

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Sept. 12 (AP)—Sound may some day replace the fury of wash day.

Two Pennsylvania State College scientists — Dr. Pauline Beery Mack and Dr. Harold K. Schilling—report that in a recent demonstration at the college a soiled cloth in a bucket of soapy water was exposed to ultrasonic sound waves of 18,000 frequency with result that the cloth came out of the water adequately laundered.

Court Curb Asked On Rain Makers

HUTCHINSON, Kan., Sept. 12 (AP)—A petition seeking a temporary injunction against rainmakers was on file today in district court.

The petition was filed by Sam M. Mitchell, secretary and manager of the Kansas State Fair which opens Sunday. Mitchell said he's not against rain but "I just don't want it to rain on the show next week."

Named as defendants are four aviators, who have been experimenting in rainmaking by dropping dry ice in cumulous clouds.

Spain, 'Tranquil Oasis in Europe,' Waits UN Decision Without Fear

By KARL H. VON WIEGAND
Dean of American Foreign Correspondents
Written Expressly for the Hearst Newspapers

MADRID, Sept. 12—Generalissimo Franco and all Spain are viewing with equanimity scheduled renewal of discussion of the "Spanish question" by the UN general assembly which opens sessions Tuesday at Flushing Meadows, N. Y.

Leftists in Spain are so split that they have little hope that any worthwhile action will be taken when the question on the assembly's agenda is reached.

After an absence of more than four months, I find on my return to Spain that Franco's position is stronger and more consolidated than perhaps at any time since he took over power.

Three things have brought that about:

1—The political and economic chaos elsewhere in Europe, especially the breakdown of socialism in England.

2—The almost unbelievable fear and terror of the Spanish people that another civil war would break out if Franco is overthrown.

3 The results of the recent plebiscite.

SPAIN OASIS

Relatively speaking, Spain is an oasis of peace, tranquility and stability in a sea of political, economic and social turbulence, strikes, hunger and the fears of what winter will bring in so many European countries.

There is less uneasiness, less anxiety in Spain than I found in much more prosperous Switzerland, the bank and safe deposit vault of the continent.

Much of the liquid assets and wealth of a large part of Europe has fled to this tiny republic.

The comparative tranquility in Spain does not mean that Franco has solved any of the fundamental Spanish problems, any more than Prime Minister Attlee has solved those of Britain, Premier Ramadier those of France or Premier De Gasperi those of Italy.

Franco is merely holding Spain steady while the storm of Communism and political confusion threatening economic disaster is sweeping Europe.

The accounting, reckoning and balancing in Spain will come later.

This has already begun in England and France.

UN DANGER

The UN, in the name of "Democracy," would only extend chaos and spread Communism westward with any drastic action against Spain at this time which might loosen a second Spanish civil war within ten years.

Spain can be a bastion for America in the event of war with Soviet Russia; that is the main reason why Poland, Russia's satellite, will demand the assembly take steps to force Franco out.

Spain is waiting for what many Spaniards believe will be an inevitable conflict between America and Soviet Russia. In such a war, the Spaniards say their country will be enthusiastically on America's side.

They are convinced that Spain, not France, will be the main base on the continent for the American forces.

British Laborites Win 28th Election in Row

LIVERPOOL, Eng., Sept. 12 (AP) The ruling labor party boosted to 28 today the number of consecutive by-elections it has won since it took over the government in July, 1945. It has not lost one.

Palestine Still Goal of Refugees

LUEBECK, Germany, Sept. 12 (AP)—The reputed leader of the futile voyage of the Exodus 1947 says the 4311 Jewish refugee passengers, now held in camps near here, still intend to go to Palestine and "nothing can stop us."

The man, hidden behind a bedsheet, talked with three American correspondents yesterday in his barracks, guarded by husky young Jews, in a refugee camp surrounded by British soldiers.

He said his refugee followers will stick together in Poppendorf and Am Stau camps and balk at British attempts to parcel the group out among displaced persons camps after screening.

Hearst Papers Get Cancer Award

NEW YORK, Sept. 12—The American Cancer Society today presented the Hearst newspapers with a distinguished service award in grateful appreciation for their crusade against cancer.

The citation was accepted by Harry H. Schlacht, Hearst writer, on behalf of the newspaper chain, during a testimonial dinner at the Ritz-Carlton.

James S. Haupt, speaking for Eric Johnson, head of the motion picture industry, and chairman of the board of directors of the American Cancer Society, said in making the award:

"The Hearst newspapers have rendered a priceless service to mankind for their unceasing industry in crusading against cancer. We are eternally grateful."

The citation was the first ever awarded to a newspaper chain by the society.

Warns U. S. Must Restore Europe or Arm to Teeth

America must rehabilitate Europe financially, even if it means a substantial drain on our own economy, Holgar J. Johnson, president of N. Y. Institute of Life Insurance, declared today at the 38th convention of the National Association of Life Underwriters, meeting at the Statler.

The alternative, he said, is a totalitarian Europe with the United States living in an isolated armed camp.

Another key speaker, Paul F. Clark, president of John Hancock Insurance Co., in the closing address ending the week's meeting, stressed that today's high prices necessitate an increase in "protection" insurance carried by the average policy holder.

"If a policy holder needed $10,000 of insurance in 1940 he now needs $15,460 on basis of 1946 prices to accomplish the same result, or 54.6 per cent more insurance," Clark asserted.

Johnson, in his plea, urged full support of the Marshall Plan.

"As a nation we must carry much of the burden of helping Western Europe until the countries can take care of themselves," he stated.

"We must do it if we want to prevent western Germany, France, Italy, the Mediterranian areas and the Near East from falling under government by dictatorship.

"Otherwise we must withdraw to our own borders and build for ourselves an armed camp to defend our ideas and our freedom from an entirely different kind of world.

"In the end this would cost more than any economic help we can give today and would make necessary a military establishment which would lower our living standards."

1947 Potato Crop Loan Program Announced

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)

A 1947 potato loan program for late crop Irish potatoes was announced by the Agriculture Dept.

A producer to obtain a loan must be certified for eligibility by his county agricultural conservation committee and must have remained within his acreage goal. The 1946 program did not require compliance with production goals as a condition for obtaining price support.

AFL Says O Link Okay But Doubtful

CHICAGO, Sept 2 (INS)—William Green, AFL president, announced that the AFL executive council had moved a proposal for "organic unity with the CIO.

However, the AFL leader told a news conference

"I am not optimistic about accomplishing a united labor front because of the character of some of the men affiliated with the CIO. Some of the CIO units are largely communistic dominated."

Green emphasized that unity must be based on the AFL proposal.

He said the "AFL will not temporize by obtaining separate units—there will be no setup of interlocking committees—that would only be a pretense of a united labor front."

FIFTH DAY
9-Day Diet

Three nourishing meals a joy —and slimming figures. That's what's bringing joy to women following the Harper's Bazaar Nine-Day Reducing Diet.

Here is the fifth day's menu, with Virginia Sarno demonstrating.

In serious dieting, the quantity of water you drink is very important as water stretches your food capacity. Make it a rule never to take more than one cup of tea with lemon, or black coffee or water at a meal. You need at least six glasses of water a day, but drink BETWEEN MEALS.

The First Four Days

FIRST DAY

BREAKFAST—Half grapefruit, cup of black coffee.

LUNCH—Chicken sandwich on rye toast (no butter), raw tomatoes.

DINNER—Stalk of celery, good-sized helping of steak, tomato and endive salad on lettuce (no dressing), half grapefruit.

SECOND DAY

BREAKFAST—Half grapefruit, cup of black coffee.

LUNCH—Jelly omelet or scrambled eggs, three saltines.

DINNER—Two thick lamb chops, stewed carrots or tomatoes or string beans, lettuce and tomato salad (no dressing), half grapefruit or sliced pineapple.

THIRD DAY

BREAKFAST—Half grapefruit, cup of black coffee.

LUNCH—Minute steak, stewed tomatoes.

DINNER—Minute steak, stewed tomatoes, plain spinach, lettuce and tomato salad (no dressing).

FOURTH DAY

BREAKFAST—Half grapefruit, cup of black coffee.

LUNCH—Stewed tomatoes, two lamb chops.

DINNER—Half head of lettuce, tenderloin steak, half grapefruit (canned grapefruit may be used), stewed tomatoes, plain carrots.

VICTORY FOR RUSSIA

By E. F. TOMPKINS

SOVIET RUSSIA has executed another strategic maneuver in its "cold war" against the democracies by surprisingly ratifying the Italian peace treaty.

The action was followed immediately by elections in Hungary, where by unprecedentedly corrupt and terroristic contrivances a Communist minority was put in power in a non-Communist country.

Inexcusably ignorant—or perhaps wilfully perverse—comment in the United States commends the Soviet Union for its long-deferred action on the Italian treaty, servilely asserting that the desirable objective of a just and durable European peace has been advanced.

This interpretation would be useful if it corresponded at all with the demonstrable facts.

The Italian treaty—one of the most immoral treaties ever drafted—has been euphemistically described as a "series of compromises."

So it was: but the "compromises" were all in the direction of extortionate Russian demands; and the completed document, which Russia now condescends to ratify, was a complete Soviet victory.

BY THE TERMS of the treaty, in the making of which the ethical conscience of mankind had no voice, the strategic Italian area of Venezia Giulia is abjectly surrendered to Yugoslavia.

Soviet Russia's chief satellite is thus given complete possession of the ports of Fiume and Pola in Istria, while Trieste is set aside as a temporary internation compound to be absorbed later by Yugoslavian aggression and infiltration.

These weak-policied dispositions assure to Yugoslavia—and to Soviet Russia—the future monopoly of the Adriatic sea and a consequent mastery of the Mediterranean.

Furthermore, new boundary lines north of Istria deliver to Yugoslavia the environs of the Austro-Italian city of Gorizia, with immediate access to the historic invasion route into Italy down the Isonzo river.

During the postwar period the United States has had troops in Italy, with the renowned Eighty-Eighth Division standing guard against Tito's men along the Morgan line in Venezia Giulia.

Under the Italian treaty terms, our soldiers—except a small watch at Trieste—must be withdrawn from Italy within ninety days after the treaty ratifications: and, in expectation of Russian ratification, the American contingent has been reduced to about 20,000 men.

Russian ratification would have sent the American troops home months ago, but Russia did not ratify.

Instead, Russian aggression steadily reduced Bulgaria, Romania and Czechoslovakia to vassalage, and, meanwhile, this country's foreign policy underwent a modification.

THE TRUMAN DOCTRINE was announced, to bulwark Greece and Turkey against Communist aggrandizement.

It was later announced that, since Soviet Russia evidently did not intend to make the Italian treaty effective, our troops in Italy were "digging in" to remain for the winter.

And then—suddenly—Soviet Russia ratified the Italian treaty, a strategem which will now compel an American evacuation, dislocating our plans and leaving Tito—and Soviet Russia—to dominate the Mediterranean and to outflank our Greek position.

Thus the way is cleared for Soviet Russia to nullify our democratic purposes in the Balkans and to undertake a Communist conquest of Italy, which would probably mean the downfall of France and the eventual reduction of Spain.

People who wonder at Soviet Russia's sudden ratification of the Italian treaty for Soviet Russia's purposes—after Russia's protracted delay to ratify, also for Russian purposes—deserve to be wondered at themselves.

O cease! Must hate and death return?
Cease! Must men kill and die?
Cease! Drain not to its dregs the urn
Of bitter prophecy!
The world is weary of the past
O might it die or rest at last!
—SHELLEY.

IN THE U. S. A. there are 14 places named Brooklyn. I have always stoutly maintained that is 13 too many Brooklyns. My objection has been that this similarity in nomenclature causes confusion. Now I find it has confused me. I have been writing about a remarkable hen which lays two eggs at a time. I was told this hen was born and raised in Brooklyn.

That was right. But the birthplace and home of this remarkable bird is not the beautiful borough over the bridge from Manhattan. It is in Brooklyn, Wis. I wonder how it happened a town in Wisconsin was named Brooklyn? Was some fugitive from Dodgerville responsible? Anyway, I view the matter with strong disapproval. I am seriously thinking of starting a bitter campaign to have 13 of 14 Brooklyns in this country change their names. My slogan for this campaign will be "One Brooklyn is enough."

PLEASE NOTE: Evening gowns worn by some stars in films are so form-fitting it is impossible for the actress to sit down between scenes. She has to have a leaning board to hold her up while waiting for the next scene. Trying to inspire appeal by the use of form-fitting gowns of this type is old-fashioned. It dates back to the early Jean Harlow era. The clever thing to do is to have the star inspire appeal in a subtle fashion by the intelligent use of what unusual attributes nature has endowed her with. Of course, this requires that she know something about acting. In any event, form-fitting and excessively low cut gowns are more suitable for burlesque queens than dramatic actresses.

ONLY GIRL—Ask your wife, what was the largest group she was ever a part in which she was the only woman? I know a young woman who was the only female at a dance at which 48 men were present. That was in Alaska. I have just heard of a girl who was the only female on a train with over 800 male passengers. And all the passengers were young fellows. It was a British Navy "leave train." The girl, a good looker, named Betty Scott, is a member of that feminine branch of the British armed forces known as "The Wrens." Ask your daughter, how she would like to be the only girl on a train with 800 Marines?

BREAKFAST—The heartiest eaters in the nation are the residents of New England. It has always been that way. In 1806 a traveler, named John Lambert wrote: "We had a typical New-England breakfast consisting of eggs, fried pork, beefsteaks, apple tarts, pie, pickles, cheese, cider, tea, and toast dipped in melted butter and milk."

ASKING. Queries from clients. Q—Are you familiar with the career of a pair of Siamese twins named Blazek? A—Not in detail. However, I do know the Siamese twins Josefa and Rosa Blazek were born in Prague some time ago and appeared in exhibitions. Rosa was married but Josefa was not. Rosa was the mother of one child, a son. Q—What vaudevillian used the slogan "A bad boy from a good family?" A—Phil Baker, when appearing as an accordionist in the two-a-day. That clever comedian Sid Silvers was part of the Baker act then. He sat in a stage box and hurled insults and wisecracks at Phil.

PETITE TYPES—A Baltimore subscriber, who measures five feet one inch in height, says she tried wearing four-inch heels with a view toward matching her height to the current styles. The result was she had so many pains in her legs she was practically a cripple. Besides she was so nervous and irritable she said many mean things to her loving husband she later regretted. Keep this in mind, if you have a petite type wife. Do not permit her to wear high heels. If she rebels at this suggestion and you have trouble handling her, consult our horses & women department which has a special file headed: "Care, training and handling of five-footer wives."

PALLBEARERS: John Frederick Gray, of Corona, Cal., planned his funeral far in advance of his demise. Among other things he asked was that the pallbearers be women. He also requested none of the women be dressed in black. His wishes were carried out in detail. There were 12 women pallbearers. None wore black.

PASSING BY: Owen Davis. Highly prolific playwright. Has written over 300 plays. Still at it. Next year will be the 50th anniversary of the production of his first play, "Through the Breakers." I think the best play Mr. Davis ever wrote was "Icebound." Remember it? . . .

THESE DAYS

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Copyright, 1947, King Features Synd., Inc.

TO THE LOVER OF NATURE, a dirt road is superior to black tar or concrete. There is something of mother earth in plain dirt that all the arts of civilization cannot replace. Women on high heels, particularly the kind that resemble miniature stilts, are not partial to dirt roads. But the fault is not with the highway.

G. E. Sokolsky

The dirt road that runs by my home in Sandisfield possesses the virtue of primitive grandeur. Civilization has not touched its surface except as automobiles go over it at the risk of breaking an axle. Each year, in the spring, after mud week, it is diligently scraped, with the object, apparently, of uncovering sharper rocks to cut tires.

The road resists the forces of progress with the tenacity of a Massachusetts selectman whose philosophy is based upon the doctrine that what was good enough for the French and Indians and Lord Jeffrey Amherst is good enough for him. The assumption up here is that if you avoid action, you live long without unusual troubles.

When Mr. Roosevelt was doling out the taxpayers' money to various and sundry, he set up some CCC camps in the woods hereabouts and the youth engaged themselves fighting gooseberries, making lakes out of swamps and building nice roads from nowhere to nowhere. It was regarded as corrupt to use these boys to improve existing roads, they being designed only to create novelties.

Recently I have been visiting their works and while I must admit that some of it still stands, the approaches have suffered from wind and weather and the neglect which is characteristic of Massachusetts officialdom. I suppose the government of Massachusetts feels that God having given its western counties some of his most magnificent scenery, why improve upon his handiwork by caring for it?

The other day, out of a clear blue sky, my wife suggested that we climb Mount Greylock in the northern Berkshires. A range as glorious as any to be found east of the Rockies. Were we city slickers, we should undoubtedly have donned the proper hiking outfit, carried the proper implements, and walked to the top on our own feet. But having been in the country some years, we traveled in automobiles.

There are two ways to reach the summit of Mount Greylock. We followed instructions and took the worse one, entering by North Adams. It is supposed to be particularly scenic. It turned out to be more maddening and dangerous than the rocky road to Dublin which they used to have at Coney Island for ten cents a ride. The only difference is that the rocky road to Dublin was fraudulently dangerous; the North Adams road to Greylock is especially prepared for accidents and I suppose that the reason nobody gets killed is that they stay off it.

There is one place where the road has washed away and the protective wall is gone and you look down what seems to be to eternity. Maybe it was built that way to give the visitor a glimpse of kingdom come. Somehow we got to the top and there a monument erected to our heroes, whose head should be in the clouds, is breaking up and is as shamefully neglected as are so many beautiful and historic places in western Massachusetts. So we came off the mountain by the less favored but safer route and thanked the Lord that we were alive yet another day.

One of the fallacies of such a reform as the CCC is that no account is taken of time and erosion. No provision was made for the upkeep of the trails they cut and the lakes they dug and the roads they garnished with pretty signboards. In time, brush and weeds and overhanging boughs of trees, and rain, snow and ice, to say nothing of the sun, do their darndest and unless someone undertakes to maintain improvements, to keep them improved, they will go back to the wilderness that nature seems to prefer.

In Massachusetts, at any rate, there is no anti-wilderness authority. The State administration does not care at all what time and erosion do. Their slogan is:

"Let Maine be vacationland; Massachusetts has Plymouth Rock."

American Children Greet President Truman in Rio

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, FRIDAY, SEPT. 19, 1947

Swamped—President Truman is nearly pulled off balance by children of American parents in the American colony in Rio de Janeiro as they grab his hand during recent visit. The youngsters feted the Chief Executive with patriotic songs during the visitation. He is en route home today on the USS Missouri which is heading into a tropical storm off the French West Indies.

YOUNG REFUGEES PEER THROUGH BARBED WIRE

Promised Land?—Jews, young and old, scoop water from a cistern outside their huts at Poppendorf internment camp, near Luebeck, Germany. The barbed-wire enclosed settlement (see photo at left) will become home for the refugees who have attempted to run British blockade into the Holy Land. They were sent to Germany after refusing to debark from ships in France.

Hollywood

By Louella O. Parsons

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12, 1947

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 12—We're all mighty proud of Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., who goes to New York on Saturday to preside over banquet to be given in honor of the United Nations delegates by the American Ass'n for the United Nations. Doug is vice - president of that organization.

Cesar Romero

Speaking of that, I have some news on the "Lady in Ermine," in which Doug co-stars with Betty Grable. My old friend Butch Romero—Cesar to you—gets a fine role as Betty's husband. Doug is the lover. I know a lot of people who wouldn't mind either assignment!

Cesar's stock has gone way up since he played Cortez in "Captain from Castile" with Tyrone Power. Guess it took Cortez to convince 20th Century-Fox and Darryl Zanuck that Cesar should bury those gay, man-about-town roles in a deep hole.

P. S. Cesar also plays a heavy dramatic character in "Deep Valley," in which he will be seen as a Portuguese fisherman.

MY GOODNESS, it's a long time since Martha Scott made a movie in Hollywood. Her last picture, "So Well Remembered," was made in England, but there's a strong possiblity she will play Aunt Birdie in "Another Part of the Forest." Remember in "Little Folks" Aunt Birdie took to drink because of the cruelty of her husband. Freddie March and Florence Eldridge arrive in a few weeks to star in this movie.

Martha and her bridegroom, Mel Powell, are already in Hollywood and it's good news that he's so well after his long siege of illness. Mel just finished a piano-playing role in the new Danny Kaye picture, "A Song Is Born," and he is planning to open his own music school in Hollywood.

JUST AS I told you, Nancy Guild's bridegroom, Charles Russell, goes along to Rome with her when she leaves to star in "Cagliostro." Gregory Ratoff told Charlie that although there isn't a big part for him in "Cagliostro" he didn't have the heart to separate such happy newlyweds, so Charlie will play several character roles, hiding behind make-up and whiskers.

Nancy and Charlie leave next Tuesday with Frank Latimore, who has been borrowed from 20th for the lead opposite Nancy.

IN ALL THE YEARS I have been on the newspaper I have never gone to an out-of-town premiere. I am about to weaken now and go to Pittsburgh to the opening of C. B. Mille's "The Unconquered." That is, if I am able to leave home on Oct. 6.

Apparently word has got around because I have been invited to be the guest of the Women's Press Club of Pittsburgh. If I go, I accept that invite. I'll also visit the Sun-Telegraph, our Hearst newspaper in which my column appears. I haven't been to Pittsburgh since I played there with my starlets. I say starlets—goodness, gracious, they're all stars now—Jane Wyman, Ronald Reagan, Susan Hayward, Robert Cummings, Arlene Whalen, June Preiser, etc.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Rita Hayworth and Victor Mature had everyone in the Polo lounge of the Beverly Hills Hotel agog yesterday when they walked in together.

When I talked with Rita, she told me it was true she had a date with Victor but it wasn't a romance, just old friends talking things over. I'll bet a cooky Vic doesn't say it's just friendship. He's always been so crazy about her and has never been able to get her out of his system. His competition now is Ted Stauffer, who gets his final divorce decree from Faith Domergue any day.

If Rita hasn't filed her divorce action against Orson Welles by the time this is in print, you can expect it any edition.

GEORGE MONTGOMERY—Mr. Dinah Shore in private life—and 20th Century-Fox have parted company. The studio politley says it's by mutual agreement. George has been with 20th ever since he started in pictures and changed his name to the fancy one of George Montgomery. I've forgotten his real moniker. He is of Russian ancestry and came here from Montana.

George has done very little since he came out of service and was not too active before he went to war. But maybe freelancing is what he needs. That often happens.

JIM DAVIS keeps his own name in "Winter Meeting." At first it was thought there might be a confusion of Davises, with Jim and Bette having the same surname, but apparently they are going to build on the similar names.

Davis, by the way, made "The Fabulous Texan" at Republic, and in that he was again the heavy. The boy has always seemed to me to have a lot of talent, and the break he's getting with Bette is the one he's been waiting for a long time.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD Collected at Random: Ellen Drew has gone to the hospital for observation. Cy Bartlett told me today he is assured that she will be all right. The baby isn't due until March, and her sickness is a minor ailment. . . . The Milton Sperlings are expecting their third child this winter. She is Harry Warner's youngest daughter, Harry and Ray, his wife, just celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary, and you would never believe it—they look so young. . . . Mickey Rooney holding hands, at the Har-Omar, with a pretty girl. Hold everything! She was Mrs. Mickey Rooney and they seemed very happy. . . . Such a wonderful birthday party given my goddaughter, Barbara Bebe Lyon, by her parents, Bebe Daniels and Ben Lyon. At 16, Barbara is a beauty. She wore the costume her beautiful mother wore in "Rio Rita." Each guest was invited to come dressed as the title of a picture. . . . Norman Taurog's pretty Patricia was a vision in a yellow gown as "The Ballerina." Vanessa Brown, who is older than these girls, and so intelligent (she was a quiz kid), wore an ermine jacket and explained she was "The Lady in Ermine." . . . Robert Arthur, who played Mona Freeman's boy friend in "Mother Wore Tights," was a very cute Tom Sawyer, with freckles and patched trousers.

The title that won first prize as the most original was "Spellbound." Kenny Gabriel had "Spell" written out on his coat and he led in Gene Weisman bound with rope. . . . A very blonde "Forever Amber" was Genevieve Malmon, who shared attention with David Bartlett, Ellen Drew's son, dressed as "The Cisco Kid," and Richard Lyon, who came as "The Cloak and the Dagger." Arthur Loew, Jr., whose granddad, Marcus Loew, and Adolph Zukor were founders of the industry, was resplendent in a uniform as "Beau Geste." . . . Barbara Whiting as "Ivy" came in a green dress trimmed with ivy. My niece, Louella Ettinger, in a red wig was Irene Dunne in "Life with Father," while her escort was a juvenile Bill Powell. Mrs. Bob Cobb's pretty daughter, Peggy Wright, had the same idea and was also very cute in a red wig. Christy Walsh, Jr., escorted her. Sally and Bob Cobb carried out the "Life with Father" idea and also wore red wigs. . . . Sixteen is a wonderful age, but most of us are thankful we don't have to live it again. . . . Audrey Totter and Hayes Goetz, son of the Ben Goetzes, at a table for just two at Jay's.

Mary Beth Hughes

Again Michael North and Mary Beth Hughes were out together. Maybe it's a reconciliation. Mary Beth tells me she has a good part coming up and she may change her name, just as Michael did. . . . Our boys of the camera—the Hollywood press photographers—are holding their annual costume ball at Ciro's Sunday, Oct. 19, and that's usually a grand occasion. . . . That's all today.

Broadway's Voice

By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK, Sept. 12—Yvonne de Carlo, who slipped into town with her aunt, is rendezvousing with the Prince of Iran in Washington today . . . Lou Holtz is alternating between Noel Frances and Toni (Carnival) Farell . . . Billy Conn's younger brother Jackie will announce his betrothal this month.

Although it's a year till the next season, with very little cash you can purchase a handsome piece of any Saratoga gambling joint you want to name . . . Fans at recent ball games in Ebbets Field will be surprised to see themselves as background for a forthcoming film. The cameras, hidden perfectly, have been clicking away merrily for days . . . The Broadway Theater is hiring a special cop to guard the lobby stills of Jane Russell when "The Outlaw" opens there Thursday . . . Joe DiMaggio is negotiating for the purchase of a boys' camp.

Jane Russell

GEORGE RAFT heads for Morocco next month to make a picture—and I don't mean El . . . Johnny Murray Anderson takes the palm as the town's busiest producer, currently. He will produce the new Ray Bolger show at the Carnival, Billy Rose's new opus at the Hippodrome, and the Aquacade in London. Then he'll return here to do the new circus, after which he'll tackle a Broadway musical based on the life and songs of Robert Burns . . . Cover girl Meeshal Maxwell and Coq Rougue boniface Frank Bonnacchini have junked their long-time romance . . . Jewelers report that diamond and watch movement markets have zoomed sky high in the past two weeks . . . Joey Adams will introduce some new comedy material—written by a professor of English literature at the University of California—when he opens at the Strand in October. The prof., who writes under the name of Harris Williams, may become a Jack Benny gag writer.

GANGLAND STORIES promise to be interesting—if slightly horrifying—this season. In addition to the current Brooklyn mess, a heavily loaded Pittsburgh syndicate is starting to cut in on local mobs and is trying to buy some of the better New York night spots. The Smoky City lads also are declaring themselves in on the Miami picture this winter—which is causing gray hair in the hoodlum circuit, since Miami promises to be a hot enough spot this winter without any more outsiders arriving.

The picture for the winter season, as of now, is this: The Chicago lads, who demanded a bigger share of Miami's profits last year—and got it from the Detroiters who have controlled the place for a long time—now want an even split with the Detroiters because they claim they need the money now that Chicago's mayor has shut that town up tight. Detroit's biggies won't pay unless they're forced to, and the New York and New Jersey hoodlums who get their cut right from the top are trying to effect a compromise.

The Pittsburgh gambling lads (are you with me?) want a piece of the bookmaking business and permission to operate at least one gambling joint near the Miami limits—and they, too, are willing to fight for "free enterprise" . . . In the meantime the FBI and Treasury Department plan to assign top agents to the sector this year to shut the whole works down if things get out of hand.

GEORGES CARPENTIER is coming to the United States to seek backing for two night clubs, one in New York and one in Paris, which will exchange attractions. He has the Paris spot all set, but is seeking a Gotham locale—and angel . . . Fashion note: The waitresses at Chandler's restaurant are featuring the new longer length hemline in their uniforms. Kidding, I hope . . . June Knight challenges any gal in show business to a hip measurement contest. Hers are a mere 21½ inches, and how have you been? . . . Roy Del Ruth wants either Jack Carson or Paul Douglas to play the Bambino in his filming of the Babe Ruth story. Have you cast your vote yet? . . . Watch the buildup for that beautiful Russ Columbo oldie, "As You Desire Me."

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 12—I am sure we should all feel everlastingly indebted to British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin. Here we were, worrying our little selves sleepless over what to do with all that tiresome gold at Fort Knox, Ky., when he comes through with the solution. Simply give it away.

The thing that bothers me is why we didn't think of it first. I guess we just aren't very bright when it comes to gold. We have got so inured to being saddled with the pesky stuff we fail to appreciate it is taking up valuable space in vaults which might better be used for smothering the British labor parliament.

Mr. Bevin, who long ago discovered the importance of being ernest, argues aptly that we are only handicapping ourselves by holding on to the trashy stuff. We should have realized that, too, because there is not one of us who wasn't admonished by an Aunt Rhoda or Aunt Hattie in our formative years to the effect that money doesn't bring happiness.

Gold, as everyone who does not have any is well aware, is as dross, the latter meaning something of no value, not an article of nether lingerie, as in undershirt and dross. I inject the explanation for the benefit of President Truman, who likes me to work in a plug now and then for the haberdashery business.

OF COURSE, it will entail quite a job getting rid of all the Fort Knox gold because there is $12,500,000,000 of it and this cannot be carried away in anybody's pants pockets, not even Ernie Bevin's. In fact, there is almost too much for King George to have sewn on his naval uniforms.

However, as I always say when boring the devil out of anyone who will listen, where there's a will there's a way. Maybe we could get rid of it by offering an autographed picture of Minister Bevin panhandling on a street corner to anyone who will guarantee to remove a cubic ton.

"He writes the most beautiful evidence!"

It grieves me to report this, but the Bevinesque suggestion was greeted with some levity here in Hollywood. In fact, Mr. Walter O'Keefe, the comedian, routed me out of the hay at dawn today to babble:

"The housing shortage is so bad in England that Ernest Bevin is trying to rent Fort Knox."

At that, Mr. O'Keefe's crack is not as mean as that of Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, who so far forgot himself as a great internationalist thinker as to snarl that what we do with our gold is our own business.

What in the world is the New Deal coming to when the Secretary of the Treasury talks that way? It's only a step from there to becoming afflicted with rationality.

Yah, Snyder, you old miser!

I RAN INTO Miss Mary Rogers, daughter of the late Will Rogers, the other evening and she recounted a rather touching episode.

The old Will Rogers ranch, back of Bel-Air, was given to the State some time ago and is now operated as a memorial to the great cowboy comedian. An admission fee of 25 cents is charged.

"My father's favorite horse, Soapsuds, is still alive," said Miss Rogers. "He is 30 years old.

"Every so often I go to the ranch to visit Soapsuds. Despite his age he still recognizes me and comes whinnying.

"Well, I went up there the other day. A new man was on the admission gate. So, to get into my old home and say hello to Soapsuds, I had to pay 25 cents."

I CAN THINK of the darndest ways of putting in my time. The other day, with Raymond Schindler, the famous detective, I drove down to Santa Ana to attend the Bud Gollum-Louise Overell yacht murder trial.

I spent most of my time studying the reactions of 18-year-old Louise and her 20-year-old paramour Bud. If I've ever seen Moronic types, they're it.

I came away wondering whether the State shouldn't have taken them before a board of alienists instead of to a costly and long-drawn-out trial.

The girl can't be put to death anyway even if convicted; she was under 18 when the crime was committed.

quoted prices of 71c. a pound wholesale for pork loins and 61c. a pound for hind quarters of beef by the big packers, presaging further price rises early next week.

Butter also went up wholesale and all dealers reminded customers buying today at 95c. a pound retail that butter would retail for $1 a pound Monday.

Worried housewives with depleted budgets tried to concentrate on poultry or lamb for Sunday dinner only to find that these staples have also hit higher prices. Chickens average a three-cent-a-pound rise since last month in all grades. The finest, formerly selling at 55 cents are now 58 cents a pound, and fowl has jumped from 41 to 45 cents a pound in many stores.

A leg of lamb at the current 75c a pound price is now beyond the budget of the average family.

Eggs have reached 90c. a dozen, ham 85c. a pound, bacon 85c. a pound, Canadian bacon 99c. a pound and lamb chops $1.25 a pound

Prices in meats and poultry have also been upped in all stores. Even Blackstone st., that haven of open-air stalls for bargain seekers, is reflecting steep price rises.

But fruits and vegetables are abundant and some varieties, such as tomatoes and grapes, can be had at the lowest prices in several years.

Boston Gets New Truck For Testing Scales

The city of Boston today obtained delivery of a 37,650-pound truck which it will use for testing scales up to a capacity of 37,800 pounds.

Similar to one used by the U. S. Bureau of Standards, it will be employed in testing railroad freight scales, those for wholesale meat and fish, and scales for lumbers, hay and coal.

New Haven

of other communities were expected to summon similar protest meetings to prepare a wave of objections to the proposal when it comes up for public hearing Tuesday.

The railroad, however, bluntly announced that even higher ticket prices would be sought, if the 40 per cent increase was granted and failed to produce satisfactory revenue.

It also hinted broadly that financial assistance from the state will be needed if the line, serving all of the South Shore from Quincy to Hyannis, is not to be folded up as too expensive.

Meanwhile, the State DPU was reported ready to grant a 20 per cent fare increase to the Boston and Maine and Boston and Albany railroads within a few days.

This boost, sought last spring is in line with the decision of the federal Interstate Commerce Commission that these lines and the New Haven be allowed to raise rates for interstate commuters by 15 to 25 per cent on a sliding scale.

The State DPU can adjust rates only on trips confined within the boundaries of the state.

In Hingham, Lewis W. Perkins, town engineer, took issue with those organizing a mass protest. He said:

"It's a question of whether the commuters want to pay the 40 per cent or lose the railroad. If I were a commuter, I'd be willing to pay the extra money."

Similar sentiments were voiced by John Bernard, representing Hingham on the Old Colony transportation committee, an organization of commuters.

Walter Morosco Weds Miss Marie M. O'Keefe

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Sept. 12 (AP)—Walter Morosco, 48, film producer son of the late Oliver Morosco, veteran play producer, was married today to Marie M. O'Keefe, 28. Justice of the Peace Harvey E. McDonald officiated.

Both are Beverly Hills, Cal., residents. It is Miss O'Keefe's first marriage. Morosco was divorced in 1934 from Corinne Griffith, former film actress, and in 1944 from the former Shirley Listenwalter, daughter of a Hollywood radio company executive.

Czech Parties Agree on Farmers Aid Tax

PRAGUE, Sept. 12 (AP) — Czechoslovakia's Communist and Social Democratic parties said in a joint communique that the Social Democrats had agreed to join in a campaign to levy heavy taxes on the wealthy to pay for farmer subsidies.

The communique also said the two parties would work together on the country's two-year plan and that agreement had been reached on other subjects after a long series of conferences.

Child Killing Trial Waits Sanity Test

LAWRENCE, Sept. 12—Dist. Atty. Hugh A. Cregg said today the Commonwealth will be ready for trial of Vincent DelleChiaie, charged with the sex murder of a Lawrence girl, as soon as the required mental examinations by state-appointed alienists are completed.

At the request of the 22-year-old defendant Judge Raoul H. Beaudreau appointed Cornelius J. Mahoney, well known Lawrence attorney, as defense counsel. The youth told the court he was without funds to provide his own counsel.

He pleaded not guilty to an indictment charging first degree murder a few hours after funeral services were held for the girl, Louise Anne Kurpiel, 7.

Towing Charges Face Six Illegal Parkers

Six motorists whose cars were towed to garages by Boston police in a drive against illegal parking will have to pay towing and other charges before they can recover their cars, they were notified by officials today.

A special force of 25 officers has been assigned to watch for flagrant parking violations, including obstruction of crosswalks, parking near fire hydrants and parking in such manner as to interfere with traffic.

Baby Girl Hopes Santa Beats Death

DECATUR, Ill., Sept. 12 (AP)—Carolyn Robb is only four years old, but they've had to put away her tricycle and most of her other toys.

"I wish Santa Claus would hurry up, because the doctor has been here so much," she told her father the other day.

M. D. Robb, her father, a railroad fireman, says the curly haired Carolyn seems to sense that she is going to die. She is suffering from cancer at the base of her brain. Specialists were unanimous in telling him the case is incurable.

Robb has promised Carolyn a Christmas party, complete with tree and presents, but hasn't decided when it will be held. That all depends.

Bridal OK'd, Carol Set to Quit Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO, Sept. 12 (AP)—Former King Carol of Romania and Elena Lupescu began packing today to leave Brazil as husband and wife, but with their destination undisclosed.

Their marriage was declared legal by the Rio de Janiero marriage court after long deliberation upon documents submitted by Carol to show the validity of his Romanian divorce from Queen Helen in 1928.

Carol and Mme. Lupescu were married in an "in extremis" ceremony when she was believed to be in danger of death two months ago.

Divorce is not permitted in Brazil, but in this case the marriage court ruling was final, since the court ruled that the documents showed the former monarch's divorce to be "universally known."

2 Cities Battle To Solve Problems

The sories of two American cities and their battles to solve their respective community problems will be told in Sunday's American Weekly, issued with the Boston Sunday Advertiser.

One story, "Rainbow over Chicago," reveals how that midwestern Metropolis and its new mayor, Martin Kennelly, are combatting former inefficiencies of administration, municipal waste, slums and juvenile delinquency.

The other, "City of Broken Hearts," describes the successful efforts of Chattanooga, Tenn.—with the help of civic-minded clergymen and lawyers—to erase an unwanted nickname and reduce a once alarming divorce rate.

Detroit Milk Price Goes Up Cent a Quart

DETROIT, Sept. 12 (AP)—Detroiters will pay a cent more for milk beginning Tuesday.

The increase, announced today, results from an agreement between the Michigan Milk Producers Ass'n and Detroit creameries to boost the price of class 1 milk from $4.60 to $4.90 a hundredweight.

PROBLEM AT W. V. U.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Sept. 12 (AP)—West Virginia University officials have gotten used to students with housing problems, but 38-year-old Navy veteran Alfred Howard had them stumped today.

Howard arrived on the campus looking for a six-room house for himself, his wife and seven children. He'd also like a few acres of ground to "raise a garden and a pig or two."

Five of the children, who range in age from five to 17, stayed behind at the family home in Keyser, W. Va., to await outcome of the house search.

Howard completed two years at the university in 1929 and is going to resume study of vocational agriculture.

Home Garden Forum

By FOSTER H. WEISS
Head of the Vegetable Gardening Dept. Norfolk County Agricultural School

Q—What kind of seeds should be saved from beans?

A—In selecting beans for seed, save the fullest pods or those with the greatest number of seeds. The plants that produce seed must also be free from any disease which may tend to reduce the yield.

Q—Last spring all the radishes that I planted were full of maggots before they were ready to use. Can I plant more for fall use?

A—Your early radishes were attacked by root maggot. Late radishes are not usually bothered. Use quick maturing kinds such as Scarlet Globe.

Q—What is meant by layering?

A—Layering is one of the simpler forms of propagation. Just bend over a twig or branch, weight it down with a stone and cover with earth and roots will form. Used to propagate roses and other shrubs.

Q—My peppers are producing well, but none are turning red. Did I get the wrong kind?

A—Sweet peppers are slow maturing. You have probably picked them too close. To get red peppers it is necessary to leave some of the older fruits on until they color up.

Q—I have been told to grow annual grasses for green manures. Can you suggest one?

A—There are several annual grasses that can be used. One of the best for our conditions is the annual or domestic rye grass which is available at our local seed houses.

Gale Smith Feted at Formal Tea

MR. AND MRS. S. ABBOT SMITH of Blue Jay Hill, Weston, are giving a formal tea this afternoon for their debutante daughter, Gale Smith. The latter's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Whitman Gale, are also host and hostess at the party.

Gale is wearing a formal gown of white lawn, with a full long skirt and carrying pink camellias and blue delphinium. Her mother has chosen a gown of powder blue crepe with gold belt and slippers. Tea and champagne are being served to toast the pretty lass and in keeping with the formality of the occasion the gentlemen of the family are wearing cutaways and boutonnieres of white stephanotis and bouvardia.

Mrs. George N. Chamberlain, Jr.

The pourers, who are wearing corsages of pink camellias, are Mrs. Augustus Soule, Mrs. Stanley Richmond, Mrs. R. R. Duncan, Mrs. H. S. Hall, Jr., Mrs. Charles P. Smith, Mrs. Winsor Gale, Mrs. Robert T. P. Storer, Mrs. George N. Chamberlain, Jr., Mrs. Daniel Cornstock, Mrs. William H. Trumbull, Mrs. Howard O. Sturgis, Mrs. Theodore L. Storer, Mrs. George Rockwell and Mrs. Philip Morss.

THE THEATER GUILD'S new fall subscription series got off to an auspicious start with the opening of "Allegro" at the Colonial Theater this week. The new musical proved a splendid diversion for a hot September night and was enjoyed by a capacity and very fashionable audience.

Glimpsed in the throng, before the opening curtain, were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Powers, Miss Louise Condit with Miss Rebekah Hobbs and Miss Lavinia Sabine, Dr. Halsey Loder very much engrossed in the theme of the play which has to do with a doctor and his son, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Toppan chatting with Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. P. Kennard, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Bradley French, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Collens, Miss Genevra Hobbs and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Titcomb, the latter in a slim black dinner gown set off by pearls and diamonds.

ROUND AND ABOUT: Mrs. David E. Parker (Patricia Standish Collens), who was married in England this summer, is paying a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Terry Collens of Newton Center, until the end of September. Her bridegroom is an officer in the Royal Navy.

The marriage of Jean Harriet Crosby to Charles Maurice Collins will take place tomorrow at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Kempton Crosby, of Belvoir, Riderwood, Md. Mr. and Mrs. Crosby formerly lived in Boston. The bridegroom-elect is a student at Johns Hopkins.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES J. DUGAN of Merry Hill, Canton ave., Milton, are giving a dance this evening for their debutante daughter, Martha Jane, who graduated from Beaver and will attend West Hill School.

The house is decorated with fall flowers in brilliant shades and the debutante is wearing a gown of white tulle with sprays of silver sequins on the skirt. Her flowers are baby orchids sent from Hawaii by a family friend, Capt. William Truesdale, USN. Mrs. Dugan is wearing a champagne crepe with bead embroidery on the shoulders and also a corsage of orchids from Hawaii.

Tapioca Is Back; Let's Try These Tasty Cream Recipes

By MARTHA LEE, Household Editor

GOOD NEWS ALONG THE FOOD FRONT: TODAY is that tapioca is back with all its joys—for young and old—back after an absence of five years caused by wartime difficulties. Therefore, It is a complete stranger to less-than-five-year-olds, and what a treat they have in store for them!

Our photograph today shows some variations of the basic and popular Tapioca Cream recipe. If you are introducing one of the younger crowd to tapioca for the first time, or bringing it back to the attention of family members, you'll be glad to have these variations handy. So be sure to clip the recipe and the following serving suggestions for your files

TAPIOCA CREAM

1 egg white
1 egg yolk
3 tbsp. quick-cooking tapioca
⅛ tsp. salt
¼ tbsp. sugar
2 cups milk
½ tsp. flavoring

Beat egg white until foamy throughout; add 2 tablespoons of sugar, 1 tablespoon at a time, and continue beating with rotary egg beater until mixture will stand in very soft peaks. Set aside.

Mix egg yolk with ¼ cup of the milk in saucepan. Add tapioca, remaining sugar, salt, and remaining milk. Place over low or medium heat and cook until mixture comes to a boil (about 5 minutes), stirring constantly.

Remove from heat and stir gradually into beaten egg white. Add flavoring. Cool, stirring once after 15 to 20 minutes. Chill. Serve plain or with whipped cream. Makes 4 or 5 servings.

VARIATIONS

Center a dish of tapioca cream with strawberry preserves or quick-frozen berries—top with sliced peaches or a "wheel" of orange segments . . . garnish with a spoonful of jelly, or gay red cherries with stems made of fresh mint . . . or tuck apple "matchsticks" into the tapioca so that the red skins line up in bright order.

Many's the idea you'll think of, too, for added distinction—such as, chocolate or butterscotch sauce and colorful combination of canned or seasonal fruits. Yes, having tapioca on the shelf is good insurance for a wide variety of successful desserts.

PEANUT BRITTLE TRIFLE

Fold coarsely crushed peanut brittle into tapioca cream. Serve in sherbet glasses; cover with additional coarsely crushed peanut brittle, and garnish with whipped cream.

CHOCOLATE HALF-AND-HALF

Fold chocolate sauce into part of tapioca cream. Serve in parfait glasses in alternate layers with plain tapioca cream. Serve with additional chocolate sauce.

SPICY PEAR DESSERT

Arrange slices of spiced pears in sherbet glasses; cover with tapioca cream. Top with pear syrup and additional slices of pears. Garnish pears with whole cloves, if desired.

CINNAMON-APPLE DESSERT

Cook apple quarters until transparent in sugar syrup, colored and flavored with cinnamon candies. Place in sherbet glasses. Cover with tapioca cream

MARVEL CREAM

Serve tapioca cream in sherbet glasses. Pour maple syrup over tapioca; sprinkle with coarsely chopped nut meats such as pecans, walnuts, or blanched and toasted almonds.

PEPPERMINT TAPIOCA CREAM

2-3 cup quick-cooking tapioca
¼ tsp. salt
2-3 cup crushed peppermint candy
1 egg yolk
4 cups milk
1 egg white, stiffly beaten

Combine tapioca, salt, candy, egg yolk, and milk in top of double boiler and stir enough to break egg yolk. Place over rapidly boiling water, bringing to scalding point (allow 5 to 7 minutes), and cook 5 minutes, stirring frequently. Remove from boiling water. Fold a small amount into egg white; add to remaining tapioca mixture and blend. Chill—mixture thickens as it cools. Serve in sherbet glasses with chocolate sauce. Makes 8 servings.

THE BOXY SUIT takes dressing for the occasion seriously this fall . . . and becomes a gem of sophisticated elegance in the hands of Ben Gershel, designer. Opulent wide shawl collar of white ermine . . . a fur used most extensively on suits and coats this season . . . offsets the polished sleekness of Forstmann's black Marlaine, a smooth, interesting fabric. Handsome rhinestoné squares sparkle brilliantly at the front closing and on the sleeves of this charming suit . . . further dramatized by John Frederics hat.—R. M.

Perfume Links East, West

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE, Beauty and Fashion Editor

WHEN YOU SNIFF a scintillating perfume . . . originally and successfully launched in China for the Chinese woman of high fashion . . . you'll agree that East CAN meet West in concepts of beauty appreciation.

Only when it was subtly proven that women the world over are motivated by the same fondness for beautiful things . . . for the exquisite confidence and poise induced by a lovely perfume . . . did the creators of this fragrance, a noted beauty house, decide to bring it to American women for their delight and pleasure.

NATIONWIDE REVIVAL

Actually that was a long time ago . . . for this oriental-flavored perfume is a long-time favorite among fragrances sponsored by this traditionally fine perfume and cosmetic house . . . but it will be introduced to American women in a nationwide revival in which Boston and 19 other key cities will participate.

Anna May Wong, charming and gifted star of the screen, stage and radio, will make a personal appearance in Boston next Thursday and Friday . . . and will lecture at the fashion center of a downtown store on both days. She will also appear in the perfume department.

It is to be remembered that perfume . . . like porcelain and printing and many another contribution to civilization . . . originated in the Far East . . . and, to this day, perfumers find inspiration in its rich tradition.

So you'll like this warm, vibrant perfume deepened by musky undertones . . . since most women like the allure which stems from Oriental heritage. It has a dramatic aura about it . . . the kind American women go for usually in a great big way. A modernized Oriental fragrance . . . you'll find it utterly different, utterly charming, utterly intriguing.

IN ACCESSORIES, TOO

The same fragrance is repeated in a complete series of accessories . . . such as toilet water and cologne . . . bath oil, talcum powder, soap and sachet . . . yes, even in brilliantine for the hair and in face powder. You could easily be a dream walking . . . a soulful, dramatic dream . . . swathed in the embodying charm of this deep but warmly divine scent.

Since men think that women are unfathomable anyway . . . let's keep the mystery ever more charming about ourselves and dip freely into this Oriental-spiked fountain of feminine and fragrant warmth.

For the name of this China-inspired perfume . . . and where to see and hear Anna May Wong, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, any day except Sunday, or write to me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

CHINESE BEAUTY CUSTOMS will be discussed by Anna May Wong, famous screen and stage star, during her personal appearances at a downtown store next Thursday and Friday to intensify the re-introduction of a longtime perfume favorite that breathes the modernized and intriguing odor of the deep and dramatic Orient . . . the kind acceptable to American women.

Asking Boy for Dance

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX: I would like to know whether you think it correct for a girl to ask a boy to dance with her just for the enjoyment of dancing, if she doesn't know who he is?

Also, what would you suggest doing if the person asked persists in wanting to dance with you the rest of the evening?

"A WOEFUL GIRL."

Dear "Woeful Girl:"

Your questions are a little hard to answer, since you give me no clue as to whether the dancing you speak of was in a public place or a private affair.

If you were both guests at a friend's house and it just happened that you had not been introduced to this boy, it certainly would not be too unconventional for you to suggest, in a nice way, that the two of you dance together. On the other hand, if he just happened to be someone you saw at a public dancing place and liked the looks of, it would certainly be out of order for you to approach him and ask him to dance. It is very poor business for any girl to approach a strange young man, except under properly sponsored circumstances.

As for the man who received your invitation wanting to dance with you the rest of the evening, there would be very little you could do about it other than simply to say that you were tired of dancing, or else to say that you have to go home.

Hat Idea From Pioneers

By EILEEN CALLAHAN

THE women who traveled over the plains in covered wagons brought a civilizing influence to the Wild West. The pioneer women thought it was stuff and nonsense to live like savages just because it was a savage country. They planted the geranium slips they had brought from New England gardens, frowned and blushed at any masculine ejaculation stronger than "by heck" and determinedly kept themselves attractive in gingham sunbonnets and calico dresses. They could never have dreamed that their sunbonnets would be the inspiration for one of the most important hats of 1947, the pioneer woman bonnet designed by Walter Florell and sketched today. Made of caramel felt, this hat has a rounded brow brim and a raised crown over which are draped tan woolly mesh veils edged with black braid.

Drive on Reds In Actors' Equity

NEW YORK, Sept. 12—Right-wing members of Actors' Equity Ass'n's council are planning an expulsion campaign against any pro-Red official of the AFL group who falsely testifies he is not a Communist.

This was learned today as the anti-Red forces mapped out their long-range plan of cleaning out the leftists, who long have dominated the 55-man council, Equity's governing body.

Under the Taft-Hartley law, union officials who falsely state they are not Communists under the affidavit demanded by Section 9-H of the act, are subject to a $10,000 fine and a prison sentence.

At the next council meeting, it is believed sufficient votes will be cast to support a resolution demanding officials sign the Taft-Hartley affidavits.

Dan Dailey Steals Grable Film Honors

There is entertainment for the whole family in "Mother Wore Tights," despite the fact that the plot faithfully follows the old formula for show-business scripts.

Betty Grable does very nicely as the young girl, vintage of 1900, who fibs her way into a chorus line, acquires a partner and a vaudeville act, and after some complications, marries the guy. She and Dan Dailey enjoy a successful and happy career, from which she retired while her two children were growing up and then resumed the act.

In this one, written from a recent best-seller and from life, there is no "other woman" trouble; rather it is their daughter who, on growing up, is ashamed of her mother who wore tights . . . although no one should object to the way Betty wears them.

It is Dan Dailey, however, who gets top honors, partly because he is a newcomer and hence a complete surprise. Dan has just about everything, and the ladies made their admiration felt in the audience. Gable can really start worrying.

The supporting cast is an excellent one, notable in the instances of Mona Freeman, Sara Allgood, Ruth Nelson and William Frawley. The songs are good; you will be hearing "Kokomo, Indiana" everywhere before long—M. X. S.

'Dear Ruth,' 'Discovery' On Exeter Bill Sunday

"Dear Ruth," delightful film version of the stage comedy-hit, with William Holden, Joan Caulfield and Billy De Wolfe and Adm. Richard E. Byrd's "Discovery" begin a week's engagement at the Exeter Street Theater Sunday.

"Dear Ruth" has a wonderful group of supporting players in Mona Freeman, Edward Arnold and Mary Philips, all of whom add to the fun. In "Discovery" are pictured the preparations for the epic voyage to the Antarctic and the fascinating and wonderful adventures of the expedition, making a thrilling screen story.

Retired Carney Hospital Executive to Be Feted

Sister Marcianna, who retired recently after 37 years as superintendant of nurses at the Carney Hospital School of Nursing, will be presented a gift by her former students next Sunday when she celebrates her golden jubilee as a Daughter of Charity.

The celebration will be at Carney Hospital.

Weems Band Scores Debut Hit

Playing his first stage appearance at the RKO-Boston, Ted Weems leads his smart band in the headline spot—and the hero of "Heartaches" is still a hero.

The screen retains the killer-diller movie, "Kiss of Death," from last week, which is all to the good for those who haven't seen it, and perhaps even better for the repeaters.

Victor Mature is still surprising 'em with his unexpected tough-guy performance.

Ted Weems and his boys get away to a good start with "Spanish Town" and "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now." The male vocalist, Bob Edwards, has a pleasing baritone for "Mickey" and "Tonight Is Young."

The girl singer, Shirley Richards, musses up the rhythms with "Picnic in the Park," "Doin' It the Hard Way" and "Feudin' and Fussin'." All to good effect.

Two smart boys step out of the band to provide comedy and cleverness. Rotund Billy Blair, the bassist, does some excellent comedy songs in pantomime. And that remarkable whistler, Elmo Tanner, fetches the house with his chorus on "Heartaches" and good tricks with "Noola" and "Stardust." Gang loves him.

An unusual troup of acrobats, The Glenns—two boys and a girl—begin the stage acts with some fantastic lifts, bends and stands. Tim Herbert is amusing with his eccentric comedy dancing.

Rita Hayworth Boosts Loew's Film

Rita Hayworth, more beautiful than ever in Technicolor, is out of this world in "Down to Earth." That is not too extravagant a compliment, although she does very nicely with her role; we mean that she plays the Goddess Terpsichore.

And Terpsichore, of course, has been dead thousands of years, if indeed she ever occupied a mortal body. Now you know that this is one of those fantasies, and if you just can't stand them, be warned. Aside from a plot which started out to be whimsical and charming and then turned out heavily, like a fallen sponge cake, the picture has a good deal of entertainment value.

Remembering the great success of "Here Comes Mr. Jordan," which was one of the very films ever to handle this sort of fantasy skillfully, Producer Don Hartman and writer Edwin Blum have introduced some of the same characters we met in that film, including Mr. Jordan himself.

Terpsichore, from her heavenly perch, is fretting over the vicissitudes of a musical comedy based on the Muses. She persuades Mr. Jordan to give her a furlough so she may return to earth briefly and help straighten the show out.

Rita assumes mortality and gets a part in the show, after engaging James Gleason as her agent. He adds much humor to the picture, which needs it. Jimmie was also in "Mr. Jordan," as was Edward Everett Horton, who plays the role of the heavenly messenger who accompanies Rita to earth.

Larry Parks and Rita make a personable pair, but it is too bad they let him sing. We expect, somehow, that he'll sing like Jolson, or as well. The five tunes by Allen Roberts and Doris Fisher are all to the good—M. X. S.

U.S. Colonel Gives Preview of the Next World War

By AUSTEN LAKE

PROFESSIONAL SOLDIERS talk of the "next war" as though it is an inescapable fact. Hardshell skeptics don't believe that nations can keep neighborly relations for more than a generation. They say that since V-E and V-J days every nation has set its scientists secretly to work perfecting the latest devices of death.

We know what the last two world wars were like. So assuming these men of Mars are correct, let's foresee what the next one has in store.

Flash Gordon a Dope

LT.-COL. JOHN A. KECK, of the U. S. Army's Technical Intelligence, has made a public report after snooping into captured German war laboratories and quizzing German scientists. What he found is like something out of a Sunday supplement. In fact Col. Keck, himself a practical engineer, says, "This one will make Flash Gordon seem as though he lived in the Gay 90's".

Keck finds that German physicists, many of whom are now forced into Russsian employ, came within a whisker of making an atomic bomb. Only lack of tools, time and safe research had prevented it. Still they had almost done it when the Allied armies overran the Reich.

Keck says that when V-E day came Germany had almost perfected a rocket bomb with controlled range of 100 miles and were "well advanced toward one that would reach New York, Boston or Baltimore." Hitler's bearded, busy little men were near the fabrication stage for a submarine V-2 rocket which could be propelled into the air from a U-boat 300 feet below the ocean surface. They had completed a 32-inch railroad gun which fired a rocket-supplemented shell 110 miles and had used it against Patton's Third Army headquarters at Luxembourg. They were testing an anti-aircraft rocket supposedly capable of exploding 10 yards from an enemy plane at 10 miles elevation. They had myriad radar devices which aimed planes, tanks and guns by magnetic attraction.

So the U. S. A. and England wheedled and enticed some of the German scientists to carry on their experiments at fat pay and good board. But Russia merely grabbed uncounted others and forced them to work in secret hideaways behind the Ural mountains.

Most fantastic contraption was one being developed at the Nazi research center in Hillersleber, where a coterie of Hitler's brain gnomes were scheming a "space station" 5000 miles in the sky, from which they seriously contemplated bombarding the earth with a "sun gun." Sounds like the mental vaporings of a hasheesh addict. Yet it was illustative of the magnitude of German dreams, both scientific and political. Today the world! Tomorrow the universe!

Actually and seriously, says Keck, these myopic little wizards proposed to "anchor" a structure 3½ miles square in area, beyond the pull of earth's gravity where they would harness the sun's rays through a large magnifying glass which could be focused on any chosen spot to "make the ocean boil or consume a city in a devouring, instant flash."

Col. Keck doesn't hint what kind of hypodermic hop these visionary Krauts squirted into their veins, or how they proposed to hoist their enormous cloud world in interstellar space, or how they would keep it corelated with the spin of the earth, or transport their working shifts between ground and sky. But he does say they were quite unruffled under examination and allowed that, while still premature, the scheme could become reality in 50 to 100 years. Well, maybe it could! Who, in Abraham Lincoln's day, could predict the radio, airplane, electric power and atomic bomb?

They Are Still at It!

SO GERMAN AUTOMOTIVE science developed big self-propelled guns and 50-ton Panzer tanks behind the mask of industrialism—as some of her experts are doing now for Russia. Her aerodynamics, motor and fuel experts evolved the early strato-fighter, dive bomber and jet propelled planes. Her chemists invented super explosives—as they are doing now for Russia. And while the rest of the world slept, Germany's busy, bearded little men worked underground like those fabulous folk—the gnomes and trolls in Hans Anderson's fairy tales.

The war did not exterminate the busy, bearded little men. No! Their work is never done. They are planning and figuring and dreaming new horror weapons and improving on the old—for whatever masters will pay them.

Since the stone age the Germans have always bent their scientific brains toward clever methods to kill their neighbors. The sharpened stick gave way to the spear, the spear to the arrow, the arrow to the gun to the cannon to the bomb. Basically their urge has been the same since man got off his fore-knuckles and learned to walk erect. They haven't changed. They're still doing it today. And we, benevolent, gift-giving America, are their unsuspecting partners.

Dodgers Need Only 6 Wins To Clinch N. L. Pennant

Brooklyn's dashing Dodgers never were in a better position to win the National League pennant than they were today following their victory in the biggest game of the year for them, according to the Associated Press.

Yesterday was the game the Dodgers had to win to put the quietus on the Cards. That they did handsomely with a 4-3 licking in St. Louis which put the Dodgers five and a half games up on the Cardinals.

It was no secret that Eddie Dyer's Redbirds, fighting with their back against the wall, needed a sweep of the showdown three-game series to get back into serious contention. Or at the very worst, two victories of three.

Dyer knew it. Burt Shotten, Brooklyn boss, knew it. Practically every Cardinal player sensed it. And they led with their ace, Harry (The Cat) Brecheen, the gritty little left-hander who almost singlehandedly, pitched the Cards to the world championship.

But the best was not enough. Brecheen, with a record of 15 and nine for the year and two victories in five starts against the Dodgers, went down to his 10th defeat and fourth at the hands of the Brooks as he failed to survive the eighth inning. The crushing blow was a pinch bases loaded single by Harry (Cookie) Lavagetto which scored Carl Furillo with the run that broke up a 3-3 tie.

The Cards now face a herculean task in their attempt to overhaul the fast flying Dodgers. Never have they been in such dire straights. Not even when they were wallowing in last place in April, May and June. Not even when they were 10 games behind on Aug. 1.

Then they had 60 some odd games left to play. Today they have only 18 more, two with the Brooks with whom they are tied in the season's series at 10 wins apiece. Eleven of these are at home. The Dodgers, on the other hand, have only 15 games left to play, four at home.

Yesterday's tense struggle, witnessed by 29,452, was a thriller all the way. Brecheen was opposed by 21-year-old Ralph Branca, who was gunning for his 20th victory. The Mt. Vernon, N. Y., fireballer, who was making his third attempt for the elusive win No. 20, finally made it, but was not around at the finish.

Hal Gregg (3-5) is Brooklyn's pitching selection for tonight's game with Red Munger (14-4) on the Cards' hill.

The Yankees, who lead the American League by 12½ games, split a double-header with Detroit, winning the second game 11-5 after Hal Newhouser tamed them with six hits in pitching the Tigers to a 7-2 victory in the opener.

Ken Raffensberger, Cincinnati lefthander, snapped a five-game winning streak of the Giants by pitching the Reds to a 3-2 victory.

Rudy York hit his 20th home run of the year with two on base in the first inning to lead the White Sox to a 7-3 triumph over the A's in Philadelphia.

N. L. PENNANT RACE AT A GLANCE

	W	L	Pct.	GB	TP
Brooklyn	86	53	.619	—	15
St. Louis	79	57	.580	5½	18

GB—Games behind. TP—To play.

GAMES TO PLAY

Brooklyn—15.
Home: Boston 2, New York 2—total 4.
Away: St. Louis 2, Cincinnati 3, Pittsburgh 2, Philadelphia 2, Boston 2—total 11.

St. Louis—18.
Home: Brooklyn 2, New York 3, Boston 2, Chicago 4—total 11.
Away: Pittsburgh 4, Chicago 3—total 7.

Brooklyn's lead over St. Louis in the National League pennant race looks more secure than ever. Should the Dodgers play just under .500 ball the rest of the way, winning 7 and losing 8 of their 15 remaining games, the Cards will still have to take 15 of their remaining 18 contests to win the flag.

And, for every game the Dodgers win hereafter the Cards must win that number plus eight to notch the pennant.

Will Kiner Shatter Ruth's Homer Record?

By HUCK FINNEGAN

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 12—Forgotten by the public were Billy Herman's woes today. The toast of the town was Ralph Kiner, "Boom" to his mates, who'll get a further chance tonight to beat Mize out for the home run crown when the Pirates seek the third straight victory over the Braves under the lights. They were tied today at 47.

The popular question here 24 hours ago was: "Will Herman remain as Pirates manager in '48?"

Ralph Kiner

The popular question today was: "Will Kiner break Ruth's record?"

"If anybody ever touches Ruth's mark (60), it will be Kiner," said Elbie Fletcher. "Why he didn't get his fourth homer until June 1. If he had been hitting the ball last spring, he'd be in the high 50's today instead of being tied with Mize at 47."

"He hits as long a ball as any man I ever saw in the other league," said Jim Bagby, last year with the Sox. "That goes for Williams, Greenberg, Foxx or DiMaggio."

"I doubt if he'll ever reach Ruth's mark" said old Honus Wagner, now a Pirates coach. "That's quite a large order."

Honus said he had persuaded Kiner to shift from a 33-ounce bat to a 36, and credits that for Kiner's rapid rise to fortune. "He's strong enough to swing the 36. Let him shift back to 33 when he gets older."

Kiner himself admits breaking Ruth's mark is quite an order, 14 homers in 15 games needed, but he says he'll battle Mize right down to the line for league honors this year.

"Funny thing, I wasn't hitting well until the last two days," he said, "but I was given Tuesday night off to rest my sore leg and came back Wednesday to hit two homers, and yesterday I picked up four in the double-header with the Braves. I think the day off restored my strength."

The Pirates won both games 4-3, 13 innings and 10-8.

Kiner's six home runs in two days set a new National League record and tied Tony Lazzeri's major league mark. Now he's deadlocked with Mize after hitting only three homers in April and May. It is remarkable indeed.

He hit 14 homers in June, 14 in August and has eight already this month with 15 games to go. (Ruth hit 17 in September the year he set the record.)

"Mize has 18 to play," said Kiner. "That gives him an edge." But Mize is on the road while Kiner still has 13 games to play in his favorite park here.

"Forty seven homers in one season," whewed Mgr. Herman. "That's more than I hit in my 20-year major league career. That's the truth. My major league total was 44. This boy's a wonder. He hits a ball as far as any man I ever saw" and Herman saw Hack Wilson & Co.

"Best day I ever had in the home run department," Kiner admitted. "I never hit more than two before in any single game. But it isn't my best day. That came against the White Sox in an exhibition game last spring. I had two homers, two doubles, a single, walked twice in seven trips. I had 10 RBI and scored seven runs."

Kiner used to play ball in the California winter league but now golfs "just to keep my legs in trim.

Kiner homered off Johnny Sain ("He was my pal at Corpus Christi") in the third inning of the first game. Later he singled and doubled. Higbe won that game in the 13th by homering.

In the second game, Kiner hit home runs on his first three trips to the plate—the first two off Voiselle and the third off Lanfranconi. Fourth time up he walked as the 10,000 crowd moaned. They wanted him to tie Foxx and Gehrig by hitting four successive homers. They stayed on, hoping he'd get up again, and when Wietelman doubled to give Kiner his fifth chance, everybody howled with delight. Beazley was pitching.

The count was 2-1 when he grounded to shortstop. "I had my pitch when the count was 1-1 but didn't expect it," he said. "He'll make up for it another time because he'll be hitting for the next 10 years.

Harvard Vets Show Hustle

It is generally the rookie who is on the spot to give everything he has to make the big team, but this current crop of football veterans at Harvard haven't given the rookies a stray look or a chance to outhustle them in their endeavor to start the opening game.

The first week of fall football practice doesn't usually bring a flood of compliments from the head coaches but the work of a few Crimson veterans has drawn a flood of bouquets from the Harvard coaching staff.

First it was Nick Rodis, who played a lot of guard in the last season, but who could stand a lot of improvement. Nick was all over the field getting into shape, and taking his coaching like an eager freshman. The work of the big Nashua lineman caused Harlow to comment on his possibilities as one of Harvard's great guards.

At the same time Nick was setting a golden example to other line aspirants the chipper Tom Gordon was running through play with a gusto that caused spectators to perspire while just watching.

Myers Hopes BC Tough as Schedule

By BILL GRIMES

"You've a pretty rugged looking squad out there, coach," was a comment directed at Denny Myers recently, while Dave Lucy was putting the Boston College Eagles through the "grass drill."

"Yes, they are rugged," admitted Myers, "but right now, I'm wondering if they are as rugged as the 1947 B. C. schedule."

A glance at the opponents the Eagles take on this fall is enough to "up" the blood pressure of any coach. They open with Clemson two weeks from tonight at Braves Field and after an idle week-end they play Kansas State, Louisiana State and Villanova on successive Friday nights.

Starting on Nov. 1, the Eagles will display their gridiron wares Saturday afternoons: playing Georgetown and Wake Forest, before journeying to Knoxville for a Nov. 17 clash with the Tennessee Vols, and they'll wind up the season with tilts against St. Mary's of California and Holy Cross.

Any team that takes on such an array of outstanding colleges and universities must be deep in replacements to return victories in the majority of its contests.

Due to the conversion of Art Donovan and Dom Papaleo, who were members of the tackle and end squads respectively last season, Myers is far better fortified with guards than was the case in '46, when he was obliged to carry on with only three center flankmen.

Due to the fact that Boston College uses the "T", Myers must have some nifty ball handlers on his quarterback squad. Ed Clasby is the most experienced quarterback, despite the fact he's only a sophomore. Right now, barring injuries, it is a foregone conclusion that he'll see plenty of action this fall.

Clasby is a 185 pound six footer and a product of Natick High where Eddie Mahan, Billy Murray and Eddie Casey, who made football history at Harvard, received their early gridiron schooling.

Tom Brennan, formerly of English High, who was at right half a year ago, is being converted into a quarterback. Brennan is a 216 pound giant and if he can master the ball handling technique, he'll give Clasby some stiff competition. However, it is doubtful if the Charlestown boy can acquire enough finesse in one season to be more than an alternate for the Natick flash.

Ken Hughes and Steve Stuka, two sophomores, who came to the Heights from Seton Hall, are candidates for the "Q.B." berth. They are smooth workers but are handicapped by lack of weight. They tip the scales at only 160.

Although he realizes the seriousness of his quarterback problem, Myers is not offering any pre-season alibis. At present he has a squad of 48, of which, 28 are lettermen. There's a predominance of sophomores, who with a year of varsity football under their belts should show to better advantage.

One of the most noticeable changes at the Heights is the return of the pre-war B. C. spirit. A year ago the ex-G. I.s (and incidentally, more than 90 per cent of the current Eagles were in the service) lacked the old urge. They'd just come out of the Army, Navy or Marines. They were fed up receiving orders. They didn't bear down and as a result didn't get into shape and therefore were suspectible to injuries.

The G. I. complex is no longer in evidence at B. C. True, right now, there are one or two doubtful cases, who if they snap out, or are snapped out of the attitude which prevented them from living up to expectations last season, will make Capt. Angelo Nicketakis' 1947 B. C. eleven a winner.

Margaret Osborne In Semi-Finals

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 12 (AP)—Margaret Osborne of San Francisco advanced to the semi-finals of the national tennis championships today by defeating Mrs. Madga Rurac of Romania, 6-4, 6-4, in the day's opening match in the Stadium.

34 Horses at Rockingham Must Die

By DAVE WILSON

SALEM, N. H. — Thirty-four thoroughbreds, including the well-known West Fleet, today were condemned to death as Lou Smith, executive director of Rockingham Park, and members of the Horsemen's Protective and Benevolent Ass'n agreed at a meeting here today that this was the only method of ending the epidemic of swamp fever which has caused the quarantine of almost 1000 horses here.

The outstanding veterinarians in the nation have agreed that humane destruction of the stricken animals was the first, long step towards the lifting of the quarantine, but horses to the value of more than a quarter of a million dollars are involved, and horsemen understandably have been slow to respond, chiefly because the insurance companies will not reimburse them if they destroy the animals.

It is for this reason that Lou Smith will run an extra race tomorrow as the Old Rock begins a 19-day emergency meeting, and that good-hearted Hawthorne Park, out in Chicago, will do the same.

The horsemen, in addition, will deduct four per cent from each purse. They are establishing a fund which will reimburse all owners at least partially for their loss, and though no official announcement has been forthcoming, it seems certain that an extra race will be carded here every Saturday.

In addition to this, every horse which is entered for racing will be given an examination before being taken to the paddock to make certain that he is not suffering from swamp fever. No new cases have been reported in the last 12 days, however, and Dr. H. M. Lewis is encouraged to believe that the worst now is over.

New England's favorite jockeys, almost to a man, also were on hand. Included was Fernando Fernandez, the clever Cuban who has been the sensation of the New England season and has been the leading rider at every meeting in which he has participated for the last 10 years.

Middlebury Drills On Pass Defense

MIDDLEBURY, Vt., Sept. 12 (INS)—Coach Duke Nelson today gave his Middlebury Panthers a lesson in pass defense. Scrimmage showed up the glaring weakness, although Quarterback Cheche Barquin was really hot with his air attack on the B squad.

Boxing Opens Here Tonight

By RINGSIDE

Indoor boxing returns to the Garden tonight when Tommy Sullivan of South Boston trades blows with Al "Red" Priest, New England middleweight champion from Cambridge, in the feature 10-round bout of the Goodwin A.C. card.

Five other fights are tabbed for the initial indoor program of the fall season, including three six-rounders and two four-round bouts.

Sullivan, the Southie strong boy, and often termed New England's uncrowned light-heavyweight champion, has been installed a 10-7 choice to whip the Cambridge redhead. Sullivan has been given the edge because of his showing last winter and also because of the belief that he is still moving up the ladder while Priest has already reached his peak.

The bout is a return one. Last December, Priest took a split decision from the Southie battler after a slam fest. Tonight's meeting promises to duplicate their first affair and may be even greater, since Sullivan is determined to start firing away for a knockout from the opening gong.

Once again, Sully has the weight advantage. He will enter the ring at 172. Priest is down to 158. Last year, Tommy scaled 169 and Al 157½.

Bulletin

Tommy Sullivan of South Boston had a 13-pound edge in weight on Al "Red" Priest of Cambridge when they weighed in today for their ten-round battle at the Garden tonight. Sullivan weighed 172¼ as expected but Priest was a shrprising 159½, the heaviest he has ever been.

GARDEN FIGHTS TONIGHT

Cards' Manager Drives Scribes From Dressing Room

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 12 (AP)—Brooklyn's victory over the St. Louis Cardinals last night was not enough to give the Dodgers anything resembling a cocky spirit for today's second game of this red-hot series. They've had the Cardinals in a corner before, and couldn't make the kill.

Someone in the dressing room suggested to Mgr. Burt Shotton that he had a pretty good start on the series, and he countered: "Series! Don't say series yet. I'm worrying about tomorrow."

Shotton usually is on the silent side—certainly when compared with Leo Durocher—but the man without a word last night was Eddie Dyer.

The defeat cut him deep, and he showed it when he barred reporters from the Redbird dressing room.

"Get the hell out of here right now," he snapped, "and I mean it." The Cardinals who had trooped in up to that point had uttered not a syllable.

The Brooklyn boys were toasting Cookie Lavagetto for his game-winning single to left in the eighth inning. He wasn't sure what kind of a ball he had hit. "I don't know," he said. "A fast ball—or a screw ball that didn't screw."

No Dodger appeared more elated than Jackie Robinson, the fleet Negro infielder who tied the score and put the Brooks back in the game with a home run into the left field bleachers with Eddie Etanky scoring ahead of him in the fifth inning.

Robinson and second baseman Eddie Stanky displayed spike cuts on their shoes and said they were made by the Cardinal catcher, Joe Garagiola, but both Brooklyn players hastened to explain them as accidents.

Franklin Sportsmen Hold Wild Fox Hunt

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

In staging its third annual Field Day, Sunday at the Franklin Country Club grounds, the Franklin Rod and Gun Club will literally present a sportsmen's three-ring circus, starting with an outdoor breakfast, at 5 a. m. One hour later, nearly 100 foxhounds will be paraded across the fairways, silhouetted against the rising sun, and then cast for a wild fox hunt. Severely hundred enthusiasts are expected to follow the prancing pack.

In co-operation with the Mass. Dept. of Conservation and the Division of Fisheries and Game, interesting exhibitions of wildlife will be on display—an innovation this year.

Scores of gunners will vie for a shining trophy in a trapshoot, which replaces the former novelty shooting . . . And speaking of prizes, awards in other contests include a $1000 Government Bond, clothing for anglers and hunters, shells, plugs, tackle, and the like.

Included on the program will be a live coon exhibition, beagle bench show, fly casting and plug casting, canoe tilting, archery, a greased pig chase, clay pigeon shoot, and a horse show—not to mention a parachute jump as an added attraction!

Al Granger, secretary of the Franklin Rod and Gun Club, tells us that his organization boasts a fine clubhouse on Uncas Pond, where the trout fishing is very good . . . Indoor ranges and a nice skeet field comprise the set-up.

CLUB CHATTER: The North Shore Sportsmen's Club, Inc., will hold its annual Field Day at Pocahontas Grove, Lynnfield Center, Sunday, featured by field trials for setters and pointers . . . Live coon, fox, and rabbit runs will also enliven the affair, plus a big clambake for all . . . The Mass. Fish and Game Ass'n is said to be readying two or three teams of surf casters for competition in the Martha's Vineyard Striped Bass Derby, Sept. 15-Oct. 15.

ANGLING ANGLES: Plenty of mackerel are striking in nearby Quincy Bay, in addition to flounders and pollock.

MIZE TOPS TED AS LONG HITTER

Babe Ruth's Opinion on Two Stars

By JACK CONWAY, JR.

"That fellow Mize, with those big forearms, is still the greatest long ball hitter in baseball today," stated Babe Ruth in an interview this morning at the Hotel Ritz-Carlton.

"Johnnie probably will not come too close to my mark of 60 but he rates over Williams and Ralph Kiner."

Ruth is in Boston with the Ford Junior baseball group. The Bambino is the national director of the Ford junior baseball promotion which supports over 5000 teams throughout the United States.

"We only have 220 teams in New England," stated the Babe as he took a long puff from his fat cigar. There should be more baseball diamonds in New England. I am amazed at the local cities for not being more interested in local baseball.

"A fine example of mass baseball participation for kids is the baseball program sponsored by the Hearst papers."

The Bambino is now on the eastern end of an extended Ford tour which took him to Cincinnati, Syracuse, Detroit, Chicago, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

We asked Ruth about the ball used in the majors today.

He smiled and said, "I used to think that the modern baseball had a little rabbit in it. Now I know that it has the whole 'rabbit' in it."

"If I were back in the majors today I know that I would do a lot of bunting and hitting to left field. And I do not think that this would hurt my home run average at all."

If this was an indirect criticism of Ted Williams, Ruth did not acknowledge it.

Ruth will be at the Hotel Statler tonight to aid in the presentation of six scholarships to young baseball players in New England. The scholarships are being offered at Boston University.

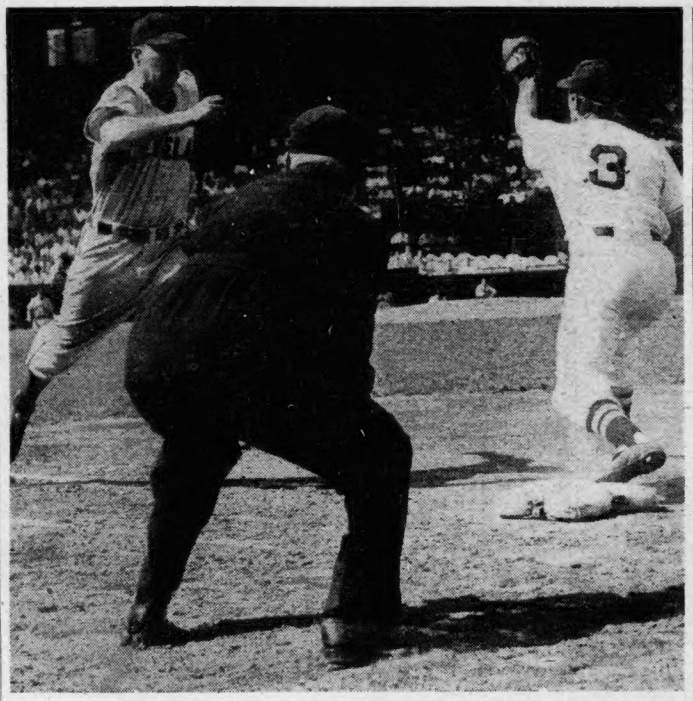
Ingram Fines Artoe $100 for Profanity

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—Lee Artoe, Los Angeles tackle, was fined $100 today by Admiral Jonas H. Ingham, commissioner of the All-America Football Conference, for what the commissioner described as "unsportsmanlike conduct" in a game at San Francisco last Sunday.

Ingham said the fine carries an automatic suspension until it is paid. The fine was levied, Ingham said, after he received reports that Artoe used explosive and profane language to officials at the end of the game, which San Francisco won, 17-14.

3 Bowdoin Regulars Missing From Practice

BRUNSWICK, Me., Sept. 12 (INS)—The Bowdoin linemen worked on fundamentals today while coach Adam Walsh fretted over the absence until next week of backs Jim Pierce and Bobby Small as well as end Bud Smetbursi.



Mitchell Fails to Beat Toss—A fast throw from Pitcher Denny Galehouse to Jake Jones, Sox first sacker, nipped Indians' rightfielder, Dale Mitchell, at first base in the first inning of today's Sox-Cleveland game at Fenway. Umpire Bill Grieve called the play. Both clubs failed to tally in first inning.

Passing Combination Pleases Huskies' Coach

Galehouse Routed in 4th Inning

FENWAY PARK, Sept. 12—In a desperate effort to get some kind of a strong foothold on the runner-up berth, Manager Joe Cronin sent Denny Galehouse (9-9) to the hill in the third game of their current series with the Cleveland Indians today.

Matt Batts, rookie catcher who made an impressive debut with the Hose yesterday when he got five successive hits in the doubleheader against the Indians, was behind the plate.

Bob Lemon (8-4) was Manager Lou Boudreau's choice to do the flinging for the invaders.

Close to 7000 fans were in the stands as the Sox again tried to climb away from the Detroit Tigers who are still only half a game behind the Cronimen.
